NATO Will Proceed With Summit Meeting

Vice President Nixon to Head US Delegation

Permanent Council Agrees on Following Original Schedule

PARIS (AP) — Paul-Henri Spaak, secretary - general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, today announced that the summit meeting of NATO's chiefs of government would go ahead as planned despite the illness of President Eisenhower.

A communique issued after a meeting of the permanent NATO Council said the group had "learned with satisfaction" that Vice President Nixon will head the American delegation for the meeting.

A member of the U.S. delegation to NATO said Wednesday Nixon had been proposed to the members as a substitute for Eisenhower. But Nixon said later in Washington that the statement "was not made at any direction from the White House."

The communique issued by Spaak said: "The North Atlantic Council, having learned with regret that President Eisenhower will be prevented from attending the NATO Council meeting in December, decided that the meeting should take place at the level originally planned."

The possibility that Eisenhower would be able to attend the Dec. 16-18 talks was not ruled out in Washington. James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, and State Department press officer Lincoln White both said Eisenhower himself will decide on U.S. representation.

It was learned after the Council meeting that some delegates expressed reservations about holding the summit talk as planned. They apparently feared that they might not obtain their original objectives without the presence of Eisenhower.

The final decision was unanimous, however. The subject took

Unmasked Men Hold Up Brown Station

They Escape With $109 From Desk Wednesday Night

Two unmasked holdup men walked into the Jerry Brown Service Station on Highway 50, one mile east of Sedalia and conducted a holdup which netted them $109.64. The robbery took place about 10:18 p.m. Wednesday night.

David Crockett Glass, 47, Route 1, Smithton, the attendant at the station, said he was alone in the office when one man walked in and asked if he had any Cokes. Seconds later the second man walked in flourishing a sawed off shotgun and demanded the money, he said.

Glass told officers he remarked to the men, "You're kidding aren't you?" whereupon the man with the gun promptly said "No," then "We want your money."

"I unlocked the drawer in the desk and they took all of the paper money and I believe some change," Glass said.

According to Glass, the men were driving an old model automobile and came into the station from the east and past the station building to the west where they parked. The first man preceded the second by about a minute, according to Glass.

He described the first man as being about 6 feet 2 inches tall, 190 pounds, blonde, and about 40 years old. The second man was about 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighed about 160 pounds, and between 40 and 45 years old. Both were wearing old overalls, one with a zipper jacket, and both wore caps.

After they obtained the money they returned to their car and headed west on Highway 50, Glass said.

The call to the Sedalia police was made and reported as Brown's west station, which caused a delay of several minutes of the officers getting to the proper station, all going west.

It is the third time holdup men have visited Jerry Brown service stations since Sunday morning, Nov. 3, and the fifth holdup in the

Man Gets Concession To Explore for Oil

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—The government today granted a concession to Guatemala oilman Jorge Zemeri to explore for oil over two-thirds of Jordan's territory.

Earlier this year a large oil concession was granted American oil man Edwin Pauley. Pauley's company has begun drilling about 30 miles east of Amman.

Morocco King Pays a Visit To Virginia

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—King Mohammed V of Morocco came to Virginia today for a day of sightseeing in the historic Williamsburg-Jamestown area.

A special Air Force Constellation brought the King here from Washington on the first leg of a 16-day cross country tour.

Mohammed ended his three-day Washington visit earlier with a warm "goodby" from Vice President Nixon, substituting for President Eisnehower.

The King's party of 17 top-rank Moroccan government officials accompanied him.

Nixon told the 48-year-old Moroccan ruler at National Airport that his stay had further strengthened the historic ties of friendship between Morocco and the United States.

As a personal note, Nixon presented the King with a doll, a gift from the vice president's daughter, Amina, who is in Rabat.

Aides reported Mohammed was immensely pleased at the results of his two lengthy foreign policy talks with Secretary of State Dulles who served as last-minute replacement for the ailing President Eisenhower.

Mohammed also had a brief visit with Eisenhower Wednesday afternoon.

After the final Mohammed-Dulles talk, a joint statement was issued.

The statement covering the U. S.—Moroccan talks said Mohammed expressed hope that friendly negotiations will settle the battle

Britain Announces It Is Closing Down Hong Kong Dockyards

LONDON (AP)—Britain announced today it is closing down the royal naval dockyards in the crown colony of Hong Kong.

Lord Mancroft, minister without portfolio, told the House of Lords that the shutdown will require two years and will be concluded by Nov. 30, 1959.

The decision to shut down the naval yards on the China coast "has been necessitated by the current reorganization of naval forces and their shore support throughout the world in the light of the government policy in the defense white paper," Mancroft said.

The white paper outlined the way Britain was changing its defenses to meet the nuclear age. It reported Britain would cut down on its overseas commitments.

Britain still will hold its vital naval base in Singapore. A number of warships based on Hong Kong will protect British shipping and help maintain the security of the colony.

In the sheltered Hong Kong port Britain plans to keep a small naval base from which ships can be serviced and operated.

DEXTER, Mo. (AP)—Vane William Brannock, owner-publisher of the Bloomfield, Mo., Vindicator and a former president of the Southeast Missouri Press Assn., died yesterday.

He had been a newspaperman for 44 of his 60 years.

Survivors include the widow, two sons, a daughter and Brannock's father.

Morocco Army Will Retaliate

Crown Prince Gives Order, Says Spanish Forces Are Attacking

RABAT, MOROCCO (AP)— Crown Prince Moulay Hassan charged today that Spanish forces had launched attacks against Moroccan territory from the tiny colony of Ifni and announced he had given orders to the royal army to fight back.

An earlier report by the Moroccan Nationalist newspaper Al Alam said Spaniards in Ifni had started an all-out attack against rebels in Ifni early today, and were bombing Moroccan villages. The paper said Moroccan anti-aircraft guns already had fired on some of the planes.

The crown prince, in a radio statement broadcast, said that "following Spanish incursions on Moroccan territory" he had given orders to the royal army to fire at any foreign plane over Morocco whose mission was believed to be hostile.

The prince has sent one of his top aides, Col. Moulay Hafid, to the United States to confer with King Mohammed V who is on a visit there. Reports from Washington said the colonel was expected to see the King in Dallas Friday.

Moulay Hassan said Morocco had been surprised by the rebellion which broke out in the 781-square-mile colony on the Atlantic Coast last Saturday.

But he said South Morocco, still under a Spanish protectorate, was of great "economic and strategic importance" because "it is our door opened on the Sahara." South Morocco is south of Ifni.

Al Alam said the Spanish attack was designed to recover positions lost to the rebels.

Spain has rejected formal Moroccan requests for the colony to be turned over to the Rabat government.

The colony is surrounded on three sides by Morocco but Spain claims the Moroccan government has never been able to establish its authority in the surrounding area.

The local units of the Moroccan liberation army, a guerilla outfit which helped win Moroccan independence, have never been brought fully under Rabat's command. The Spaniards allege that some of these units are involved in the fighting.

Britain Agrees No Arms Shipped Without Talks

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan said today Britain would make no new deliveries of arms to Tunisia without continued consultation with France.

The British leader, reporting to Parliament on his conference with French Premier Felix Gaillard earlier this week, emphasized however, he has not surrendered Britain's right to send further supplies of weapons to the young North African state.

Despite French protests, some U. S. and British machine guns, rifles and ammunition were flown to Tunisia two weeks ago. The French feared the arms would reach rebels fighting them in Algeria.

On the question of a possible East-West summit meeting, Macmillan told the House of Commons the West was willing to employ any means "to try to reduce tension."

Soviet Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev has suggesetd a renewal of talks by the top leaders of the major powers.

While not ruling out tis possibility, Macmillan stressed that "the timing of such meetings are very important."

Eisenhower Attends Church Service Thanksgiving Day

Well-Wishers Are Delighted At Show of Rapid Recovery

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower went to Thanksgiving services today, and was cheered and whistled by well-wishers delighted at this show of his rapid snap back from Monday's mild stroke.

Eisenhower smiled and nodded in response. Newsmen who see the President often could detect evidence of his illness. His color was good—perhaps a little less ruddy than usual.

Eisenhower's decision to go to church apparently was a sudden one. Reporters at the White House got no word of it until the moment he and Mrs. Eisenhower were slipping out a side door and into a waiting limousine.

So far as has been disclosed, it was the first time he had left his second floor White House living quarters since he was stricken Monday by what physicians diagnosed as an occlusion, or blockage, of a small brain artery.

The White House said Eisenhower's recovery had been so rapid that he might yet go to the Paris meeting Dec. 16 of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies.

With the absence of advance notice of the church visit, only a few people were at the National Presbyterian Church when the President and Mrs. Eisenhower arrived.

One of these called, "Happy Thanksgiving to you, Mr. President."

"Thank you," Eisenhower replied and went inside.

The Rev. Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, pastor of the church, offered a special prayer for Eisenhower's future well-being.

The President sat quietly throughout the service, and seemed to be listening very intently to the pastor's sermon. He also participated in the hymn singing, arising with the rest of the congregation.

By the time the service was over, a crowd of 300 to 400 persons had gathered outside the church and burst into applause as the President and the First Lady started down the steps to their waiting limousine.

As the applause broke, a smile spread over the President's face. He was bundled in a heavy navy blue overcoat and wore a light gray hat.

Six Injured, 2 Critically, In Car Wreck

Two Children Hurt In Collision At US 50-135 Junction

A three-car collision at the junction of U. S. Highway 50 and State Highway 135, two miles west of Otterville, resulted in the family of four being injured along with two other persons. Two of the six are in critical condition at the Bothwell Hospital. The accident occurred about 3:05 p. m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Shirley White, 20, wife of Van M. White, 22, 710 Wilkerson, Sedalia, is in critical condition from a possible fracture of the neck, fractured right thigh, fractured left ankle, and severe lacerations about her head and legs.

Her husband is less hurt, suffering from a laceration on the face, mouth injury, and contusion of the chest.

Their two daughters, Cynthia Lynn, 2, received a severe laceration in the center of her forehead and a fracture of the left arm at the elbow. Tonya Ann, age one, received severe lacerations on the right side of her head, but she apparently escaped any fractures.

The driver of one car, Dennis Gene Leonard, 22, a service station attendant at California, and whose home is reported as Centertown, Mo., is in critical condition. Leonard suffered a partially collapsed right lung and a contusion of the right lung. He received minor cuts and bruises.

Richard McCormack, 23, a student in the Rolla School of Mines, driver of the third car, escaped any injuries, but his wife, Sandra McCormack, 20, received a contusion of the forehead, and bruises. She was examined, but not admitted to the hospital.

The injured were all taken to the hospital in two ambulances sent by Gillespie's. At the hospital Mrs. White and her two daughters were given emergency treatment by Dr. Pete Siegel and White is being cared for by Dr. Stanley Fisher, who took charge of the family as their family doctor.

Leonard was treated by Dr. John Lamy. Dr. Siegel also examined Mrs. McCormack, and released her to continue on to Independence.

Trooper George A. Hamilton, California, Mo., of the State Highway Patrol, Troop F, investigated the accident. According to information he was able to obtain from the victims of the accidents was that Leonard was headed east in

Manager Issues Reminder

Dial Telephones Here Will Begin on Sunday

Local and long distance dialing will begin for Sedalia telephone subscribers at 1:01 a.m. Sunday, N. B. Pitcairn, manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., reminded all customers here today.

"We've completed installation of the dial equipment," Pitcairn said, "and all that remains is to pull the switches to start dial service for Sedalia."

Pitcairn emphasized the importance of remembering to dial the new two-letter, five-figure "TAylor 6" and "TAylor 7" numbers after the conversion is made. The company has distributed new directories, listing the "2-5" numbers.

"The 'TAylor 6' and 'TAylor 7' telephone numbers will probably be unfamiliar for a while," Pitcairn said. "We recommend that subscribers refer to their new directories before making a call until they get used to the numbers. This would be a good time to bring any lists of frequently called numbers up to date, too."

At the same time local dialing goes into operation, Direct Distance Dialing, the service that enables one and two-party non-coin subscribers to dial many of their own long distance calls, begins. Customers who will be able to use Direct Distance Dialing received a special directory this week, listing the towns they can dial and explaining how to use the service.

Sedalian Hurt As Jack Slips From Truck

M. Ellis Green, 59, 614 East 14th, was seriously injured about 9:50 a.m. Thursday when a truck fell from a jack while he was working beneath it. The accident occurred at Green's Automotive Service Garage, 207 South Osage.

Green recently purchased the pickup and had it in his garage to make some necessary repairs on it. He had jacked the front end of the vehicle up and was beneath the truck on a creeper, starting to remove the pan.

Robert "Bob" Beaman, 1825 South Beacon, a mechanic, had just walked into the garage and around the truck when the jack slipped from the wide bumper and fell. Beaman started to get a jack and jack the car up again when Green rolled out from beneath it and asked him to call a doctor.

Beaman called the Gillespie ambulance and sent Green to Bothwell Hospital, where Dr. John B. Carlisle rendered medical treatment and had X-rays taken of his head. The X-rays revealed fractures of the skull on both sides and across the top.

Relating the accident, Beaman

Bodies of Air Force Officers Are Found In Wreckage of Jet

MARGARETVILL, N. Y., (AP) — The bodies of two Air Force officers were found today in the wreckage of their crashed jet on Panther Mountain.

Searching parties climbed over rugged terrain to reach the bodies shortly afternoon.

Youth Killed, Three Injured on Turnpike

EMPORIA, Kan., (AP)—An 19-year-old boy was killed and three companions seriously injured in a one-car accident on the Kansas Turnpike nine miles southwest of the Emporia interchange today.

Dead is Victor Manuel Castro of Wichita. He was identified from papers in his pocket.

Ike Decided To Keep Church Trip a Secret

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was President Eisenhower's own idea to keep secret the fact he was going to church today until after he had actually gone, the White House said today.

After the President and the First Lady returned to the White House, press secretary James C. Hagerty told a news conference he had learned of the plan from Eisenhower himself about 10 a.m.

"He told me Mrs. Eisenhower was going to church, which I knew," Hagerty related, "but he also said he was going to escort her—which I didn't know."

Responding to a question, Hagerty said Dr. Howard M. Snyder, the White House physician, knew in advance about the President's church plans and had given "complete approval."

Explaining why reporters got no advance word of Eisenhower's departure from the White House, Hagerty said the President personally had enjoined him against making any general announcement until he and Mrs. Eisenhower were actually on the way.

Asked why the President did that, Hagerty replied:

"The President has always believed that when he goes to church he goes as an individual to worship his God, and not with a flock of reporters and photographers."

End of Touchy Assignment

LITTLE ROCK MISSION COMPLETED — With the remaining 225 men of the 101st Airborne Division terminating duty in Little Rock, equipment is loaded on a plane from Ft. Campbell, Ky., for the trip back to their home base. The troops have been on duty at Central High School in Little Rock, Ark., since President Eisenhower ordered them there Sept. 26. There still are approximately 900 men of the federalized Arkansas Guard on duty at the school. (NEA Telephoto.)

Arsonist May Be to Blame

FIREBUG'S FIELD DAY? — A barn formerly used for horses and mules at the Oklahoma City stockyards goes up in flames. The loss was estimated at $150,000 by a company official. It was the first of three fires which Oklahoma City firemen battled the same night and Fire Chief G. R. McAlpine said there was "no question" it and the others were the work of a pyromaniac. No injuries were reported at any of the fires which included a feed storage building and a residence. (AP Wirephoto.)

Tell of Experiences At Home for Children

Mrs. Guy White, 1214 East Tenth, entertained Circle No. 1 of the First Christian Church at her home Thursday, Nov. 21. Mrs. Frank Hudson was co-hostess.

Mrs. A. H. Pledge, chairman, presided over the meeting and Mrs. Rolla Lopp gave the devotional, "Brotherhood of Faith." Mrs. Howard Turner presented three young ladies, Miss Beatrice Haggard, Miss Patricia Ellis and Miss Judy Warren, who told of their experiences as part of their summer vacation in the St. Louis Christian Home for Children and the Christian Home for the Aged Missionaries and Ministers at Columbia.

Refreshments were served to 12 members and three guests.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. H. Turner, Dec. 19.

Flood Relief Request Is Being Investigated

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Federal Civil Defense Administration and the Agriculture Department are conducting an investigation into Gov. James T. Blair's request for flood relief for seven counties in Southeast Missouri.

Sherman Adams, presidential assistant, wired the governor last night that when the survey is finished Gov. Blair will be advised as to what the federal government feels it can do to help solve the problem.

The seven counties are Stoddard, Butler, Mississippi, Scott, New Madrid, Pemiscot and Dunklin.

President Eisenhower was requested by Gov. Blair on Nov. 19 to declare a disaster in that area after flood, caused by persistent and heavy rains, had left up to 10.45 inches in 10 days.

Island Is Mortgaged

COLLINSVILLE, Ill. (AP) — The man-made island on which a mystery building has been built near Collinsville has been mortgaged for $50,000.

Frank (Buster) Wortman, reputed rackets boss of the East St. Louis area, long has denied rumors that he is the owner, saying that it belongs to Sam Magin.

It was Magin and his wife who took out the mortgage, borrowing the money from Bayar Investments Ltd. of Nassau, the Bahamas. Magin is awaiting trial on a federal perjury indictment which stemmed from a federal investigation of Wortman's activities.

Details of the loan are on file at the Madison County Recorder of Deed's office in Edwardsville.

Teresa Phillips Becomes Bride Of B. J. Walker

At 7 o'clock in the evening, November 2, Miss Teresa Faye Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Phillips, 2119 South Engineer, became the bride of Barnett J. Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barnett E. Walker, Houstonia, at the Hughesville Baptist Church. The Rev. Leroy Elsbury of Cowgill performed the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with yellow and bronze chrysanthemums and lighted tapers in candelabra.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. James L. Bass played "Indian Love Call." Mrs. Floyd Stevenson, sister of the bridegroom, sang "Always" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The candles were lighted by Miss Sharyn Greer, niece of the groom, and Ronald Phillips, brother of the bride. Sharyn wore a dress of blue brocaded taffeta and white carnation wrist corsage.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a chalk white gown of French lace and nylon tulle over bridal satin. The fitted lace bodice was fashioned with long tapering sleeves and a high neckline which was finished with a small mandarin collar. The bouffant ballerina-length skirt of tulle was overlaid with a wide band of scalloped lace in a medallion pattern which encircled the skirt, dipping in points at either side to the hem. Lace was also appliqued at the waist to simulate a peplum. Many tiers of tulle ruffles formed the underskirt. Her elbow-length veil fell from a shaped crown of lace, heavily embroidered with sequins. She carried a cascade of white carnations.

Mrs. Marion Greer, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She wore a dusty rose brocaded taffeta dress and corsage of white carnations.

Robert L. Walker, Houstonia, served as his brother's best man. Ronald Greer and Donald Greer, twin nephews of the groom, ushered.

Julie Stevenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stevenson, was flower girl. She wore a blue brocaded taffeta dress and scattered rose petals in the path of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue dress, matching accessories and white carnation corsage and the bridegroom's mother was attired in a brown and black tweed dress, black accessories and carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement. The three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, was encircled with yellow button mums and greenery.

Miss Arlene Tegtmeyer, Hughesville, Mrs. Bruce Sinclair, Knob Noster, Mrs. Robert England, Sedalia, and Mrs. John Bean, Kansas City, served. Miss Dixie Walker, Nelson, was in charge of the guest book.

The bride graduated from Hughesville High School with the class of 1954.

The bridegroom graduated in 1947 from Hughesville High School and served four years in the Navy. He is employed with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., Kansas City.

Tea Party Is Delightful Way to Entertain Visitors

Interior designer Ellen Lehman McCluskey puts finishing touches to a floral display for the tea table. Modern lace cloth gives old-fashioned promise of hospitality. Its Baroness pattern is emphasized by an undercloth of navy blue.

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

Rediscover the pleasant sociability of afternoon tea as a means of entertaining graciously, easily and inexpensively.

With the influx of holiday visitors anticipated, a tea party is a delightful way to introduce a stranger to your circle of friends. It's often simpler to arrange a tea than a luncheon or dinner party. When you entertain your club or committee, the friendly atmosphere which surrounds a prettily set tea table makes a relaxing conclusion to the meeting.

Although there are different ways to set a tea table, they have much in common. Namely, the table should be a pleasure to look at and arranged for smooth and convenient service. Tea should be hot and properly made and the food light and not highly seasoned.

Unless the party is quite large and formal, you, as the hostess, preside at the table and it's not necessary to offer other beverages in addition to tea.

To offer specific suggestions, I asked Ellen Lehman McCluskey, the noted interior designer, to set a tea table for us. Mrs. McCluskey, in addition to her busy career, leads an active social life and tea parties are regular events at her home. She has worked out her own formula which, she says, adapts as easily to four guests as to 40.

If as a bride you received a silver tea service, by all means polish it up and use it. But if not, don't hesitate to use other types of tableware: china, glass or earthenware are appropriate. Just make sure table linens and serving plates harmonize with the service.

For her setting, Mrs. McCluskey uses a small, round dining table. Although her cloth looks like an heirloom lace, it's a modern, quakerlace adaptation of an old hand-made design and is at home with traditional china and silver.

To allow for the deep overhang of the cloth to show off the pattern, she selects a 90-inch cloth for a 60-inch table. Adding contemporary interest to the setting is the undercloth. Undercloths can be made or bought in many colors; under a white lace cloth a navy blue undercloth makes a good background.

An undercloth can cover just the table top or be sized to fall to the hem of the lace, but in the latter case, you must make sure the undercloth doesn't show below the hem.

Tea party tables lend themselves to dramatic floral arranements. You don't have to keep them low because the guests won't be seated at the table. In the case of our model table, red and white flowers were used in a tall arrangement placed on one side of the service.

At one end of the table is the tea tray. Usually this is most convenient if placed near the kitchen door. Plan the tray so that guests receive their filled cup at your left. On the tray go the teapot, a pot of boiling hot water, for those who prefer weak tea, sugar, creamer, a plate of lemon slices with fork, a waste bowl.

The tray is not covered by a cloth. Cups and saucers with teaspoons in place parallel to the handles are arranged within easy reach to the left and in front of the tray. Most authorities advise against stacking cups and saucers.

If the party is large, additional cups and saucers are brought as needed from the kitchen or placed on a serving table to right of the hostess.

Opposite the tea tray, Mrs. McCluskey places a stack of tea plates. Next to those go medium size serving platters holding thin, small sandwiches and bite-size cakes. On most occasions, these accompaniments can be eaten with the fingers. That eliminates the need for forks.

As the guest circles the table, she picks up a plate first, then a tid-bit, then a napkin. Napkins are folded in triangles and places one on top of the other.

Another way is to stack plates with a folded napkin between each plate so that the guest picks up both at the same time.

Last stop is made where the hostess is seated. She asks how the guest likes her tea and pours her a cup. It's a good idea to provide some space where guests car place used plates and cups. This might be a cleared buffet, a serving table or small tables placed near chairs.

One advantge to a hostess of a tea party is that preparations can be made in advance.

Thin sandwiches can be made in the morning and kept fresh, wrapped in waxed paper or foil. Plain bread-and-butter is adequate. For "something different," you might try a spread made with chopped watercress moistened with mayonnaise or cream cheese.

Tiny cookies and fancy little cakes can also be made or purchased ahead of time.

Your cookbook will tell you how to brew the tea from tea leaves and boiling water. If you're going to serve more cups of tea at one time than your pot will hold, make additional tea in a fresh pot.

An attempt to add new leaves to the old ones is somewhat less than satisfactory.

Install BPWC Saturday In Puerto Rico

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs will install a brand new Federation—The Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs of Puerto Rico—on Saturday, Nov. 30, in San Juan, Puerto Rico, it was announced by Miss Hazel Palmer, Sedalia, president of the National Federation. Installation of the new Federation comes as a climax to nationwide "Know Your America" week.

Miss Palmer and Mrs. Marie B. Bowden, of Leesburg, Fla., president of the Florida Federation of BPW Clubs, will head a delegation of 25 members of the St. Petersburg, Fla., BPW Club, who will fly to San Juan, to install the new Puerto Rican Federation.

Donna Felicia Gautier, the Mayor of San Juan and a prime mover in the new Federation, will have Miss Palmer, Mrs. Bowden, Miss Wanda Climes, president, St. Petersburg BPW Club, and Miss Helen Krauss, also of St. Petersburg, and chairman of the Florida Federation "Know Your America" week, as guests in her home. Other members of the Florida delegation will be guests at the Caribe-Hilton.

Installation of the two new clubs in San Juan, which will be the charter clubs of the new Puerto Rican Federation, is to take place on Friday night, Nov. 29, under the direction of the Florida members. Ceremonies making the new Federation an official member of the National Federation will take place Saturday night, Nov. 30, with Miss Palmer as national president in charge.

The new Federation will be the 52nd in the National Federation family. In addition to BPW Federations in all 48 states, there are Federations in Alaska, Hawaii and the District of Columbia. National Federation Headquarters are located at 2012 Massachusetts Ave., Washington, D.C.

Christmas Pillows Easy To Make With Automatic Stitch

CHRISTMAS PILLOWS—Easy to make and fun to give.

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Women who sew are discovering that automatic decorative stitching has opened up a whole new vista of gay Christmas gifts that may be made at home in a fraction of the time they used to take. All kinds of gay and colorful accessories may be turned out on a modern sewing machine, with personalized decorations to give them special meaning for everyone on your gift list.

A festive pair of Christmas pillows, for instance, would delight anybody who lives in a house—or add a holiday note to your own living room. Local sewing center experts tell you how to make them, using either a slant-needle automatic sewing machine or a standard with automatic zigzagger attachment.

To make two pillows you will need one piece of white felt measuring 18 by 72 inches, one piece of red felt measuring 8½ by 18 inches, a piece of yellow felt 1 by 2 inches and a piece of black felt 1½ by 6 inches. Also required is one bag of kapok to stuff both pillows.

Lay a strip of white felt flat on floor or long table. Mark two circles side by side, each measuring 16 inches in diameter. Then mark two rectangles measuring 12¾ by 18¾ inches. Use pinking shears to cut out.

Use regular scissors to cut two poinsettias and a candle of the red felt, a candleholder of the black felt and a flame of the yellow felt.

To make the round pillow, first mark center of one circle. Then applique red poinsettia to center of circle, using the ball stitch design. Make a cluster of 18 yellow balls for poinsettia center, stitching through the flower and the circles of felt.

Place the two circles together. Set your machine for the solid diamond stitch or any other that you prefer. Stitch one inch in from edge of circle with red thread. Leave a 6-inch opening to stuff in the kapok. After stuffing, close circle with solid diamond stitch.

To make the rectangular pillow, applique candle to pillow top in this order: set machine for satin stitch and use red thread to outline the candle, black thread to outline the holder and yellow thread to outline the flame. Add yellow candle rays in decorative stitching.

Pin rectangles together. Select decorative stitch and stitch together, one inch from edge. Leave 6-inch opening for stuffing and close with same stitch after stuffing is completed.

This is just one suggestion from an almost endless number of possibilities for gay and original gifts that the seamstress can turn out at home.

Mrs. Goode Elected President of Club

Mrs. Omar Howard entertained the Rebekah Home Club at her home Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Mae Shults read a Thanksgiving poem. The following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Lewis Leaton; vice-president, Mrs. Bessie Goode; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Omar Howard and reporter, Mrs. Mildred Young.

Plans were made to have a Christmas party Dec. 17 at the home of Mrs. Lena Kuykendall.

If you add 4 tablespoons of dry milk to each cup of fluid milk, you make the food about twice as rich in milk value as it is when fluid milk alone is used.

Mrs. Rissler Tells Of Teaching Indians

Brownie Troop No. 58 of Washington School met Nov. 19 at the home of their leader, Mrs. Aubrey L. Moore.

Mrs. Edith Rissler, introduced by Mrs. Moore, told about her experiences in teaching in the Indian schools. She also displayed pottery, jewelry and blankets.

The troop completed plans for a Thanksgiving basket to be deivered to a needy family.

Man Admits Armed Robber Of a Bank

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—A former North Carolinian, recently a resident of Fresno, Calif., last night admitted the $33,000 armed robbery of an Angier, N. C., bank Monday.

FBI agents arrested the man, 34-year-old John Charles Jackson, at a garage in Benson, only 16 miles from the site of the robbery, as he picked up a car he had left there. Officers found most of the money in the trunk of the car.

U. S. Commissioner T. L. Hon arraigned Jackson and set $25,000 bond.

"Do you have anything to say?" Hon asked the tall, thin defendant.

"I say I'm guilty," Jackson replied. "I'm here to take advice. I'm here to make it easy on you fellows."

Jackson was jailed here for trial during the April 8 term of U. S. District Court in Raleigh.

Special Agent M. P. Chiles, in charge of the Charlotte FBI office, said Jackson had been identified earlier in the day as the man who robbed the Angier branch of the First Citizens Bank & Trust Co., ordered six employes into the vault and escaped with $33,000.

The day after the robbery, garage owner M. P. Parrish said, Jackson left his 1951 automobile at the garage to get the six-cyclinder motor replaced by an eight-cylinder one. Parrish said Jackson told him he was returning to California and would need the vehicle Wednesday.

To Use the Airport

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The City Commission has refused to grant landing clearance to Santa Claus. Or, as Police Chief W. Cleon Skousen says, Santa can land in a helicopter if he wants to, but his pilot will be tossed in jail.

The Sugarhouse Chamber of Commerce had asked for permission to land Santa in the 'copter tomorrow, at a plaza in the outlying shopping center called Sugarhouse.

City officials pointed out that a body of city, state and federal law forbids landings and takeoffs at any but authorized airports in metropolitan areas. It's also illegal to fly less than 2,000 feet over the city.

Family Will Prize Home Gifts for Work or Play

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

From a kaleidoscopic whirl of multi-hued wrappings, ribbons and affectionate cards on Christmas morning will emerge gifts for the home which the entire household will enjoy for their beauty, their practicality or their entertainment value.

Among the headliners of treats in store are furniture accent pieces. This is a broad category that will range from miniature chests to one-of-a-kind tables. But a new collection of accent pieces designed by John Van Koert is beamed directly at the gift trade and priced accordingly.

Included are square occasional tables with printed plastic tops and detachable legs for easy packing; a modern version of a wine cooler with a porcelain bowl inset that could be used in many ways; serving carts that fold up flat as a pancake; folding writing desks with tiny upholstered benches; small campaign chests handsomely adorned with brass hardware.

Upholstered furniture that's going to make gift lists will include new reclining chairs comfortable enough for Dad and slim and trimly styled to satisfy Mom, ottomans which have returned to favor and occasional chairs covered in bright plastic or fabric, some on swivel bases, others on easy-rolling casters to pull up for conversation or TV.

For the household divided in its views of television programs, new portable television sets will rate a prominent place under the tree. The slimmer silhouette, lighter weight and plug-in convenience of operating them make them ready to go anywhere. New small transistor portable radios take up less room than a camera and are especially popular with travelers. For stay-at-homes, new hi-fidelity phonographs can offer smart furniture styling at remarkably low prices — a console, for example, made by a leading electrical manufacturer, available in a choice of wood finishes will sell for under $150.

Synthetic fibers have brought new importance to familiar gifts. Car robes in orlon, packed in their own cases, are warm as toast and carry the added advantage of machine washability without shrinking or matting.

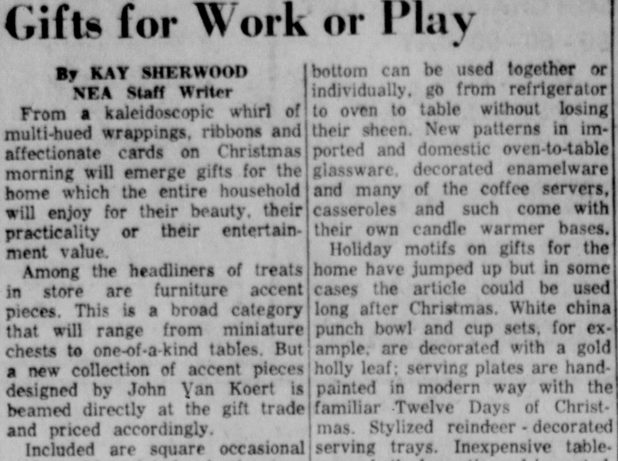

With home entertaining hitting an all-time high, gifts for the hosts are in fascinating profusion. Many have multiple-use features which hostesses are quick to appreciate. Lustrous, nontarnishing stainless steel, for example, fashions lily-like shapes in bowls which can serve food or display flowers.

In covered steel dishes, top and bottom can be used together or individually, go from refrigerator to oven to table without losing their sheen. New patterns in imported and domestic oven-to-table glassware, decorated enamelware and many of the coffee servers, casseroles and such come with their own candle warmer bases.

Holiday motifs on gifts for the home have jumped up but in some cases the article could be used long after Christmas. White china punch bowl and cup sets, for example, are decorated with a gold holly leaf; serving plates are hand-painted in modern way with the familiar Twelve Days of Christmas. Stylized reindeer-decorated serving trays. Inexpensive tableware, both domestic and imported, is available with gay Christmas trees or Thanksgiving turkeys.

Another popular motif this year is our own American eagle which flies over everything from serving trays to decorated glass-ware and insulated ice buckets. You'll meet his stern eye painted on china and glass, carved in wood, cast in brass and copper.

On the practical side many workaday articles move into the gift category by virtue of their pepped up styling. Space heaters, for example, in sleek compact rectangular cases with all the safety features look neat and cozy. Fluffy pink nylon dusters tied with pretty ribbons belie their practical purpose. And new vacuum cleaners in pretty new colors will be a welcome gift with future importance.

Christmas motifs accent these holiday gifts for the home. White punch bowl and cups are highlighted by gold holly leaves; hand-painted serving plate interpreting one of Twelve Days of Christmas can also be wall decoration.

Warm gift for sports-loving family is washable acrylic fiber car robe in its own water-repellent case.

Beauty in gift form is the one thing every woman appreciates at Christmas time. This year, the accent is on perfume in spray form because it's economical and luxurious at the same time. It's also easy to handle and easy to carry. One version (upper left) is by Corday in both atomizer and metered spray that can be carried in a handbag. Oil for a luxurious bath comes (upper center) in capsule form and in a miniature apothecary jar for her bathroom shelf. Scent, by Prince Matchabelli, is rich and sophisticated. Perfume comes in stocking stuffer form (upper right) held by a little angel. Crystal cylinder has fake jewel top; scent is by Lentheric. Another perfumer, this one with meter spray, is by Lucien LeLong (lower left). Flacon is black enamel studded with white and colored stars. Perfumed bath salts matched in color to a perfume fragrance (lower center) is a new idea from Coty. Gold-capped bottle can grace a bathroom both with salts and after, when salts have gone into many lovely baths. An American perfume in luxury bottle (lower right) is this one by Tussy. Bottle comes in blue and gold box.

Every Woman Loves

Beauty Gift That Has Scent of Flattery

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

A woman's Christmas that doesn't include at least one gift of beauty is not really Christmas at all. This is a point to keep in mind when you shop for the women on your gift list.

No matter how much a woman says she really yearns for something practical (and even names it), there's scarcely a woman alive who doesn't secretly hope that you'll think her pretty and feminine enough to rate a bottle of perfume or toilet water, some bath oil or bath salts or some luxurious dusting powder.

These are just beginnings, of course. And you can shop at many price levels and in many ways when you buy a beauty gift. You can give her extravagant French perfume in a crystal bottle cut you can give her a purse-size bottle that's pretty and not extravagant at all.

Newest thing for perfume-giving this year is the bottle with the metered spray which is both spill-and-evaporation proof. The spray control means that not a drop is wasted.

In bath salts, the newest and brightest are those that are colored to match the scent wih which they're perfumed—red, blue, green or gold. These come in lovely gold capped bottles that have many uses when the bath salts are gone.

Before you buy bath oil, it's best to find out if the lady on your list prefers capsules or the bottled variety. Some like one, some are devoted to the other.

If she's a lover of bath oil capsules, she'll take to a new apothecary jar that holds 50 and is moderately priced. The scent is slightly sophisticated and the oil itself is a fine way to combat dry winter skin, as every woman knows.

Girl Is Killed, Two Are Hurt in Collision

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP) — A three-year-old girl was killed and her father and sister injured last night in the collision of their car and a tractor trailer on U.S. 61 near the western outskirts of Hannibal.

The victim was Carla Creech, daughter of Carl Creech of Hannibal, who was driving the car. He was reported in critical condition at St. Elizabeth's hospital here.

Less seriously hurt was six-year old Melody Creech.

Assistant City Manager Takes Post in Illinois

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Graham W. Watt, assistant city manager in Kansas City since 1953, last night was notified of his appointment as Alton, Ill., city manager.

He will assume his new post sometime in January. Watt, who will be the first city manager in Alton under a new charter, will receive $12,000 annually.

He has been receiving $9,300 here. Watt joined the city government here in 1950.

Chief Says Americans Need All-Out Effort

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The German rcoket scientist who directs Army missile development says, "Every single American must come to realize an all-out national effort is needed to catch up with the Soviet Union."

Dr. Wehrner von Braun witnessed the unsuccessful firing at Cape Canaveral of a Jupiter rocket. He directs the ballistic missile project at Redstone Arsenal, Ala.

"We are behind the Russians because we started too late," he said. "They threw everything into the program right after the war. We started only in 1951. And today they have achieved a greater working speed than we have. In order to catch up with them we must beat their working speed. That is the key to the entire program."

Von Braun said that mixing Air Force, Army and Navy missile programs now might not be a good idea because all branches "have wonderful teams at work now."

Ex-College President Falls to His Death

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Leslie Ziegler, former president of Culver-Stockton College at Canton, Mo., fell to his death from a fourth-floor window of the University of Illinois hospital yesterday.

Doctors at the hospital said the 63-year-old Zeigler was subject to unexpected falls. He plunged through a closed window and fell to the ground outside the Neuro-psychiatric Institute of the hospital.

Zeigler had lived at Downers Grove, Ill., since he resigned from the Missouri College about a year ago and became national director of field services for the National Epileptic League. He resigned in September because of his health and entered the hospital Nov. 18.

Surviving are the widow, Ruth, 61, a daughter, Mrs. Donald Anderson, both of Downers Grove, and a son, William, of Kansas City.

Auctioneers Rest After Big Day for Tobacco

WESTON, Mo. (AP)—Auctioneers took Thanksgiving Day off after selling 300,000 pounds of tobacco in two days at an average of $56.90 a hundred pounds.

Top price was the $63.30 a hundred paid Mrs. Herman Buthman and Dave Crockett of DeKalb, Mo. About 200,000 went over the block Tuesday at an average of $56.31. Yesterday's price averaged $57. The auction resumes tomorrow.

US Orders Two Missiles To Be Made

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, striving to catch up with Russia in medium range missiles, has ordered two rival types into production. The goal is to have them ready for use in another year.

The Senate Preparedness subcommittee, to which Secretary of Defense McElroy made the announcement at a hearing Wednesday, welcomed it as "good news" and termed McElroy a man "with both the power and the willingness to act."

Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) said McElroy is the "real czar" in the battle to surpass Russia in missile development, and told reporters he hoped that other decisions which McElroy promised "will come just as soon as possible."

The subcommittee, before recessing its hearings until Dec. 13, also heard Deputy Secretary Donald A. Quarles testify that this country is running "neck-and-neck" with Russia in developing the intercontinental ballistic missile, and that "as a whole, as of today," the over-all U. S. missile program is ahead of Russia's.

Quarles agreed with committee counsel Edwin L. Weisl that, for the sake of safety, this country should base its ICBM program "on the assumption that the Russians are ahead."

McElroy ended an Army-Air Force deadlock with his announcement of production orders for both the Army Jupiter and the Air Force Thor. Both are intermediate range ballistic missiles with a range up to 1,500 miles.

Vice President Nixon told a news conference President Eisenhower had tentatively decided on that action, and a group of eight officials made it final.

"It is now clear," McElroy said, "that while neither of the missiles can be regarded as having completed its development phase, they are both at a point at which we believe we can . . . program additional production for operational purposes."

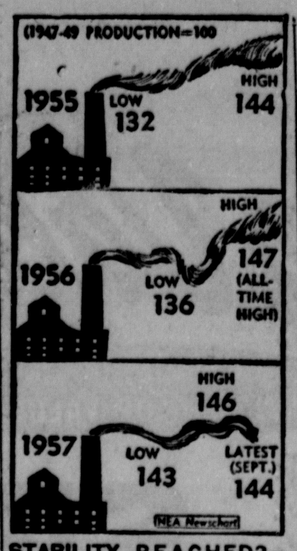

Whatever new money will be needed to speed their production will be asked of Congress when it meets in January, McIroy said, adding: "By making use of the production capacity now available for both . . . an operational capabilty can be achieved by the end of 1958 in the United Kingdom.

They will be spotted in other countries when necessary arrangements are made.

Army spokesmen in Washington indicated production would gradually be shifted to the Warren, Mich., plant of the Chrysler Corp., which now produces the shorter range Redstone missile.

Officials reported Wednesday night that McElroy had ordered resumption of certain overtime pay to speed up missile work. He sanctioned overtime work on three Air Force missiles — the Atlas and the Titan, both ICBMs in the developmental stages, and the Thor.

The action came after the Air Force asked authority to resume overtime which had been halted by an economy order last August.

STABILITY REACHED?—Newschart shows record of U.S. industrial production (total physical output, not dollar value) for last three years, using 1947-49 as base. Figures from National Industrial Conference Board reveal 1957 record is only slightly below all-time high set in 1956, and that production this year has maintained a more "sidewise" movement than in the two previous years.

Publisher Faces Charge of Wrong Handling of Ads

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission today charged Ernest Mark High, New York City with placing unauthorized advertisements in a union organ which he publishes and then trying to collect for them.

FTC said High's operations have subjected companies and individuals to "harassment, intimidation and unlawful demands for payment."

FTC said High publishes the Spotlight, official organ in New York state for the American Federation of State, County and Mucicipal Employes. High pays all publication costs, the complaint said, in return for the exclusive right to secure advertising.

High was charged also with making false claims in soliciting advertising from employers. FTC said the publication is not affiliated with, endorsed by or an official publication of either the AFL or the newer AFL-CIO, as High has claimed.

Arnold S. Zander, president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, said the union welcomes the complaint filed by the FTC against High.

In a statement issued here, Zander said the union has been trying for more than two years to terminate the contract with High. He said continued publication of the organ is embarrassing to the union.

Daisy Bell Circle Remembers Patients Of Nursing Home

The Daisy Belle Circle of Epworth Methodist Church took a large assortment of home-made jelly, preserves and marmalade to the Campbell Nursing Home as a special treat for Thanksgiving. The nursing home is the circle's project of the year and other than remembering them on special occasions the Circle also sends birthday cards to all the patients on their birthdays.

Mrs. Ruth Jackson is chairman of the service project.

Embarrassing Moment

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Carolyn Beckstead couldn't get the key to work when she tried to unlock her new car. She asked a passerby for help.

The key wouldn't work for him, either, so she asked if he'd mind breaking a window for her. The pedestrian complied and Carolyn, 20, climbed in and sat down.

Then she discovered it wasn't her car.

P.S.: She located the owner of the car, but reported he wouldn't accept payment for the broken window.

Americanism Is the Theme At Lions Club

"Know Your America Week" was the theme of the program for the Sedalia Lions Club at its noonday meeting Wednesday. The program was in charge of Mrs. Marjorie Garansson, chairman of "Know Your America Week," in Sedalia.

The Rev. Leonard Reifel, pastor of the Federated Church, gave a brief talk on the subject in which he stressed the dangers of Communism.

Mrs. Garansson, introduced members of the Business and Professional Women's Club who gave a skit showing how easy an innocent person can be trapped into a Communist organization under the guise of it being a civic organization, peace organization or some religious organization. Taking part in the skit were Mrs. Jim Hamilton, Miss Kay Matthews and Miss Anne Sagar.

Phillip Pfeiffer, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Garansson, who in turn introduced Rev. Reifel and the BPW "actresses."

Guests at the meeting were Homer Stanfield, Boonville, with Ray Brueckner, and Ray Baker, guest of E. B. Smith.

V. H. Bradshaw, Missouri state secretary of Lions, was a visitor at the meeting.

It was announced by International Counselor Smith the district convention of District 26-C would be held in Moberly on March 30 this year, instead of holding the meeting in June or July as in previous years. The reason for the early convention is to have Past International President Elbert of Illinois as the principal speaker.

Secretary Bradshaw announced the Missouri Lions will have a unique band at the International Convention in Chicago this year. The Missouri School for the Blind 40-piece marching band is being taken to Chicago to appear in the parade and before the convention.

This band was completely outfitted with musical instruments and uniforms by the Lions Council of St. Louis and St. Louis County. It is believed to be the only all-blind marching band in the United States.

Also the Lions of Charleston, Mo., are taking their high school band to appear in the parade. The big marching band is one of the top musical groups of Southeast Missouri.

An $8,000 float of the Missouri Dairy Association is also being taken to Chicago for the International parade and will have with it Missouri's Maid of Milk Queen.

President A. B. Warren announced the holiday sales on fruit cakes is nearing the first half goal. Money from the fruit cake sales will be used in connection with the Lions work with the Crippled Children's Center.

Sedalia area since 12:24 a.m. Nov. 1.

The four previous holdups were executed by a lone Negro bandit. He first held up the Missouri Pacific passenger depot the morning of Nov. 1, and obtained $34. Next he took the Brown station on North Missouri at 1:05 a.m. Nov. 3 and obtained $37. He went back to the same Brown station at 7:24 p.m. Nov. 9, at which time he obtained $36.40, and on Sunday, Nov. 10, at 8:35 p.m. he held up the Kay's Cafe on North Highway 65, where he got his biggest haul, $91.

Sgt. E. W. Van Winkle and Trooper Robert Stockdell of the State Highway Patrol, Deputy Sheriffs Ed George and George Brown, and Night Chief Ted Gardner of the police department, investigated the holdup Wednesday night.

his car, a 1951 Ford coach. White was driving his car, a 1953 Chevrolet coach, and headed west, while the third car a 1950 Chevrolet coach, driven by McCormack was also going west, following the White car at some distance.

According to the information Trooper Hamilton reporter it appeared as if Leonard pulled to the left side of the pavement into the approaching line of traffic and his car and that of White's crashed head on. So terrific was the collision, that McCormack, who was braking his car to a stop, was also hit when the White car was knocked backwards and crashed into the front of his vehicle.

Both the Leonard and White cars were demolished while extensive damage resulted to the McCormack vehicle.

The cars of White and McCormack were towed to Otterville by Castle Brothers wrecker and taken to their lot in Otterville. The Leonard car was towed to Sedalia by a wrecker from Chamberlin's Service Garage.

The White family was enroute to Sedalia. Leonard was reported going to California. Mr. and Mrs. McCormack were enroute to Independence to spent the Thanksgiving holidays with Mrs. McCormack's parents and with his mother in Kansas City.

The accident was the first reported serious mishap in the eight county area over the Thanksgiving holidays.

NEW PARSONAGE — The First Baptist Church has purchased a new parsonage at 1504 West Fifth for the pastor, the Rev. J. R. Wallace, and his family. Located on a corner lot at Fifth and Barrett, the house is constructed of buff brick. One interesting feature of the house is the large living kitchen. The living area of this room has walls of natural paneling, while the kitchen end has green walls with cabinets of natural finish. Also there are a three bedroom wing on the east side and half-bath, a planter divider inside the front door making entrance hall to the front living room, a utility room, and a double garage which may also be used as a playroom.

Thinks 'Star Of Hope' Plan Good Proposal

NEW YORK (AP)—A North Carolina newspaper editor said today his plan for launching a "star of hope" satellite would provide all peoples of the world with a visual symbol of hope and peace.

John McConnell, editor of the weekly Toe Valley View, said the satellite, "sheathed in a highly reflective material, would be a symbol that people can see and understand."

McConnell, of Bakersville, N. C., appeared on the NBC television program, "The Arlene Francis Show," to discuss his recent editorial proposing the December launching of a Christmas star satellite.

The first U. S. satellite is scheduled to be launched next month.

"The venture into space has been accompanied by tension," McConnell said. Such a satellite, he said, would help to ease "fear and anxiety in all parts of the world."

McConnell's idea has received support from at least one satellite scientist—S. Fred Singer, University of Maryland astrophysicist. Singer said earlier this month the sending of a harmless, uninstrumented sphere into a globe-circling orbit would help offset the propaganda advantage Russia has gained with its two Sputniks.

Baby Is Rushed by Car To Hospital to Get Needed Transfusion

GREEN BAY, Wis., (AP)—A baby only a few hours old was rushed 56 miles by police squad car in 25 minutes from upper Michigan to St. Vincent's Hospital here Wednesday night for an emergency blood transfusion.

Mark Mellinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mellinger of Stephenson, Mich., was listed in fairly good condition today after a complete change of blood. He was born in a Menominee hospital just before noon Wednesday with an RH negative blood condition that threatened his life. The Menominee hospital did not have facilities for the transfusion.

Deputy Raymond Clark drove the baby and two nuns to the Brown County line where they were met by Tim Baumgart of the sheriff's department.

Baumgart said that at one point two cars, going in opposite directions, failed to yield the right of way. The squad car clipped the bumper of one auto, but no one was injured.

Vertical Flight Plane Crashes, Kills Pilot

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP) — The Rolls Royce "flying bedstead," first British jet plane to achieve a vertical takeoff, crashed during trials today, killing the pilot.

The machine overturned while flying tethered to a crane at nearby Hucknall. The pilot, New York-born Wing Commander Henry Larsen, was pinned underneath and crushed.

The aircraft was first flown in 1953.

• Police Reports

Four juveniles were picked up by the police Wednesday night at Third and Engineer in connection with throwing rocks through windows at the residence of Mrs. Kitty L. Kauffman, 1105 West Third, and the Dale's Laundry, 1122 East Third.

Parents were contacted and told to have the boys contact Cecil Glenn, juvenile officer.

Four mail sacks dispatched to Windsor, Warsaw, Lincoln and Cole Camp were reported by C. A. Smith, baggage man, as having been stolen from the Missouri Pacific sometime between 5:45 and 7:45 a.m. Thursday.

The sacks had arrived on Missouri Pacific Passenger Train No. 9 and unloaded on a platform truck and left on the platform until the mail truck arrived.

Ralph Brewer, ticket agent reported an investigation revealed that two Negroes were seen around the platform between 5:45 and 6:45 and later, after they had gone, the sacks were found to be missing when the truck arrived to take them to their destination.

A report has also been given the postal authorities.

Floyd White, 27, 319 East Pettis, received severe cuts about 8:50 a.m. Thursday as a result of an argument in front of Ted's Cafe, 117 East Main.

Ernest Holford, 40, of 115 East Pacific, was picked up later by the police in connection with the fracas. Police reported Holford admitted the assault.

According to the police report Holford told them that he and White had an argument which started at White's mother's home on East Pettis. He left the White home and went up to Ted's Cafe and was followed there by White.

While on the sidewalk in front of the place, the argument began again and White ended up with a 10-inch slash which started at the right shoulder down the chest and across the chest. It took 71 stitches to close the deep slashed wound.

Another slash wound about six inches long was behind his left ear, which took several stitches, and there was a cut on his left wrist.

He was taken to the hospital in the Gillespie ambulance, where Dr. A. R. Maddox rendered medical treatment.

Holford is being held in the city jail for investigation of felonious assault.

Wall Streeters Find Market Has Bounce

NEW YORK (AP)—The habitues of Wall Street's financial canyons could sit down to their turkey today thankful that the stock market has a lot of bounce in it.

Most experts, perhaps a little rattled by the bad price break in the last 20 minutes Tuesday on news of President Eisenhower's illness, had predicted a further decline yesteday, at least at the start.

That didn't happen. There wasn't any decline at the start and by the time the day ended all of Tuesday's decline had been recouped, with a fraction or two to spare.

Of course, all stocks didn't make up their Tuesday's losses. But, as measured by the standard market averages, most of them did.

The significant fact, as noted by an executive of Wellnigton Fund, one of the largest mutual funds, was that "the rally in stocks Wednesday confirms the underlying strength in the market."

This is what happened:

On Tuesday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped $3.60, equivalent to a cut of 4½ billion dollars in the quoted value of all stocks on the New York Stock Exchange. There were 171 gainers and 862 losers.

On Tuesday the AP average gained $3.90, equivalent to a jump of $4,800,000,000 in the quoted value of all stocks on the exchange. This time there were 843 gainers and 177 losers. The market was back just about where it started.

These gyrations were tied directly to President Eisenhower's health. Just 20 minutes before the close on Tuesday the market got the bulletin that the President had been confined to his bed Monday night with something more than a chill. That caused the selling deluge.

But by Wednesday morning more specific information was available on the President's illness, and throughout the day a series of optimistic statements blossomed forth from Washington. That created the buying surge.

France Warns Against UN Intervention

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—France has warned the United Nations she considers the Algerian revolt her own business and feels any U. N. intervention could only result in more bloodshed.

Foreign Minister Christian Pineau issued his hands-off demand in the Political Committee last night even as the Algerian National Movement called on Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to bring both sides together in an effort to settle the three-year-old rebellion.

Pineau declared the rebels had lost the war on the military, psychological and political fronts. Any U. N. action at this stage, he said, would only block France's efforts to achieve a "peaceful, democratic and just" solution in her North African territory.

He turned down an offer by Tunisia and Morocco to get the French and Algerian nationalists to settle their difference around a conference table. The offer, Pineau declared, was pointless because it contained political preconditions. He said it had dropped the nationalist demand for Algerian independence, but substituted a demand for sovereignty which the French consider the same thing.

In Paris, the National Assembly cut off debate on bills for part home rule for Algeria at Premier Felix Gaillard's demand for a confidence vote.

The vote was scheduled for tomorrow and Gaillard is to make the government's reply on the Tunisia-Morocco mediation offer before the vote is taken.

Pineau's reiteration here of opposition to the good offices move indicated Gaillard will take the same tack, despite threats of a split in his Radical Socialist party if he turns down the Tunisia-Morocco offer.

Pineau took issue with the naming of a single rebel group—the National Liberation Front — as spokesman for all Algerian rebels. The front, he declared, was locked in a struggle with the National Movement for control of all Algerian nationalist activities.

Pineau then repeated France's offer to the nationalists for a cease-fire to be followed by elections and discussions of future French-Algerian relations.

between the French and the Algerian rebels.

The statement also said:

1. The two governments will pursue negotiations now in progress for renewing leases on five American military bases in Morocco.

2. The United States "will continue to undertake" economic and technical aid programs in Morocco. U. S. aid now amounts to about 20 million dollars annually, only about 10 minutes of a normal weekly council meeting which included several hours' discussion of routine administrative matters.

The delegates expressed hope hope for the speedy recovery of the President.

The December meeting is normally attended by foreign and finance ministers. Some diplomats had suggested that the coming meeting should be at this level with a summit conference postponed until spring, when Eisenhower might be able to attend.

Basically, there appeared to be a strong feeling in NATO countries that the top-level meeting — even without Eisenhower — was essential at a time of mounting, worldwide Communist pressures. But there was frank disappointment in many NATO capitals that the one-time Supreme Allied Commander in Europe might be absent.

Thanksgiving Prayers Mix With Hope

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thanksgiving for blessings past and present mingled today with prayers for continued peace and plenty in the space-age years now dawning.

For Americans around the world there was the traditional intermingling of family get-togethers, feasting and expressions of gratitude to the Almighty for favors received.

It was Thanksgiving Day again for all Americans alike—from the land of the Pilgrims in historic Massachusetts to modern-day American bases in faraway lands.

Minds and hearts of many millions were centered on the White House where President Eisenhower was recovering from his slight stroke.

There was Thanksgiving for the way he rallied. And there were prayers for his well-being in the years to come.

Some of it was in special prayers in church. And some was just a simple "Get well, Ike"—right from the heart and with no talk.

The President and his family—cheered by reports of excellent recovery progress — arranged a holiday get-together at the White House. Turkey was on the menu there—the same as all around the land.

The poor, the sick and other unfortunates were not forgotten as families and friends celebrated the day together.

Hospitals, prisons and many other institutions had special menus so that today would be a little different from the others. Free turkey dinners for the poor and for homeless drifters were served across the land.

College and high school football games drew many thousands. There were department store parades in several cities to delight the young and old—and, incidentally, to usher in the Christmas shopping season.

Beloit Backed For Rejoining Conference

NORTHFIELD, Minn. (AP)—Presidents of colleges which are members of the Midwest Athletic Conference have recommended that Beloit (Wis.) College be invited to rejoin the conference.

The office of Dr. Clemens Granskou, president of St. Olaf College here, said the action was taken by the presidents at a meeting in Chicago Wednesday. Dr. Granskou is acting chairman of the Midwest Conference presidents group.

Dr. Granskou had not returned from Chicago and there was no elaboration of a brief statement, released by his office.

"In light of assurance given by Beloit College that she believes in and wants to comply with the spirit and philosophy of the Midwest Collegiate Athletic Conference and with full conviction that the staff, faculty and trustees of the college will implement these assurances, we recommend with enthusiasm that the conference invite an application for admission from Beloit College."

President Miller Upton of the Beloit School said Wednesday night, "Beloit has made no overtures, nor has it received an invitation to rejoin the Midwest Conference."

Beloit, one of the founders of the conference, was ousted in May 1951. Ralph Henry of Carleton College, then commissioner of the conference, said at the time, "Since the athletic policies being followed by Beloit College seem, after careful consideration, to be contrary to the best interests of the conference, action has been taken dropping Beloit from the Midwest Conference at the end of the current academic year."

Henry, who resigned the commissionership last June, said here today he would add nothing to his original statement in 1951. He said there were "no specific reasons" given in dropping Beloit.

said it appeared to him as if Green was struck on the head by a tie-rod. The truck, in slipping from the jack, bounced on its front wheels and caught Green between the tie-rod and creeper. But the truck, being rather high from the ground, cleared him when it settled on its wheels. The fact the truck was high enough not to pin him made it possible for Green to roll out from under the vehicle.

Fresh Pork Cuts Are Good Picks

We are in the period of heavy pork marketings which is normal at this time when packers are slaughtering great numbers in order to process hams for Christmas and New Year's. The remainder of pork which is mostly sold fresh is therefore in abundance. In order to move these cuts quickly, they are being sold at lower than usual prices. The quality is at its peak.

Because of the changes in supply and demand, one cut may be the best buy one day. The next day one of the other cuts may wear a lower price tag. It will pay to watch this fluctuation and become well versed in how the different cuts are best prepared.

Double Decker Pork Chops With Fruit Stuffing

Loin Roast and Chops—1 pound gives about 3 servings. Combine 1 quart soft ½-inch bread cubes, 1½ cups chopped tart apples, ¾ cups chopped cranberries, ¼ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon sage (liquid if desired). Arrange 4 pork chops in an 8-inch square baking dish. Cover chops with stuffing and arrange 4 additional pork chops on top. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 1 hour. Invert onto serving platter.

Glorified Pork Suey

Shoulder Butt—1 pound gives 3 to 4 servings. Cut 1½ pounds of pork shoulder into 1-inch cubes. Brown in 2 tablespoons fat. Drain off any excess fat, add ½ cup chopped celery leaves, ¼ cup soy sauce, 2 teaspoons sugar, and 1 cup water. Cover and cook over low heat until the meat is almost tender, about 1½ cups green beans and 1 cup sliced celery and cook until beans are tender, adding more water if necessary. Season with salt and pepper and serve over hot rice. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Glazed Pork Roast

Fresh Callie—1 pound gives 2 servings. Scoring and glazing can dress fresh pork callie roast. Just season and place on a rack in a shallow baking pan. Roast at 325 degrees, 40-45 minutes per pound. About ½ hour before done, remove from the oven and make diagonal cuts ⅛ inch deep and ¾ inches apart to form diamonds. Rub with a mixture of ¼ cup brown sugar, ¼ cup orange juice and return to oven for the final cooking. Garnish with cinnamon pears.

Thaw Your Turkey In Refrigerator

The turkey you buy for your holiday dinner will probably be frozen since most markets sell the frozen turkey rather than the fresh. That means it's important to consider thawing time as well as cooking time.

Turkey must be thawed all the way through not only for even cooking, but also to remove the packaged giblets from the body cavity and to stuff easily.

Thawing is best done in the refrigerator, though it is slow. A large bird takes from two to four days, depending on its size. A small whole bird or halves of large birds will take one to two days to completely thaw. Place the bird on the refrigerator shelf in the transparent moisture - resistant wrapper it sells in.

In case you are short on time, turkey can be thawed in its sealed wrapper under cold running water. This may take from one to three hours depending on the size of the turkey. It should be left in the refrigerator 24 hours before being placed under the water.

Trimming Are Lean But More Than Ample

DENVER (AP)—The trimmings on at least one Thanksgiving Day table may have been rather lean today, but nobody could complain about the main dish.

A poultry farm here yesterday reported the theft of seven dressed turkeys, a duck, a roasting hen and three fryers, all ready for delivery for Thanksgiving Day dinners.

Spartans Win Statistics Championship

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan State failed to win the Big Ten football title but became the statistical champion.

Final team figures today showed that the Spartans topped the conference on offense and defense in winding up second in the title race with a 5-1 record.

MSU was first in average points scored per game with 30.7, yards gained with a 372.2 average; number of plays with a 73 average and yards per play with 5.1.

The Spartans also fumbled more than any other team, averaging five per game and losing the ball an average of 2.7 times.

MSU limited opponents to an average of 182 yards and 10 points. Iowa was second on yardage yield with 220.

Champion Ohio State was second in average points scored with 29.7; second in yards gained with 358.7; first in rushing with 307 to MSU's 259.5; and matched MSU with an average gain of 5.1 yards per play. Ohio State held foes to the lowest number of points, 8.6.

The Buckeyes stand out for having a minimum of offensive errors. They had only one pass intercepted all season and lost the ball on fumbles only eight times. They were able to put the ball in play more than 10 times per game more than opponents.

Western Auto Hands Warsaw 70-48 Defeat

The Western Auto basketball team handed Warsaw a 70-48 defeat Tuesday night on the Horace Mann court.

Jim Fall, a former Sacred Heart basketball star, led the scoring attack of the winners with 9 field goals and 2 free throws to score 20 points. Bob Bennett, ex-Sacred Heart center, followed Fall with 16 points. For the losers it was Bonner with a high score of 18, followed by Hedrick and Banning who scored 10 each.

In the first period of play Western Auto outscored Warsaw 15 to 8 and in the second the winners tallied for 18 points to Warsaw's ten. At half time the score stood at 33 to 18, Western Auto.

In the third quarter the home team again had high score when they outscored the losers 17 to 10. Warsaw put on a final scoring drive in the fourth and final stanza to tie Western Auto 20-20, for a final score of 70 to 48, with the victory going to the local boys.

Western Auto plays again next Saturday night when they meet Windsor on the hardwood.

Navy Favored, But Anything Can Happen

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The beat of drums and blaring trumpets, flashing gold braid and a cheering crowd combine in the 58th Army-Navy football game Saturday at Municipal Stadium.

Navy is favored by a slight margin in this 35th encounter on the big field in South Philadelphia, but it's a game which brings out that extra spark from an underdog so predictions are risky.

Both teams have won seven and lost one. Navy also has one tie. The only opponent both have faced is Notre Dame. The Irish edged Army 23-21, and bowed to the Midshipmen 20-6.

A sellout crowd of about 100,000 is expected. Scalpers had the only tickets still available, and reportedly were asking $20 and up for seats behind the goal posts.

Coaches Eddie Erdelatz of Navy and Earl Blaik of Army have wound up their heavy practice sessions. Both teams are in top physical shape.

Erdelatz said his players will spend a quiet Thanksgiving Day "rehearsing situations" for the game. He has promised "something new" in the way of tactics for the game.

Blaik likewise indicated he may pull a surprise. Army, leading the nation in rushing offense with an average of 325 yards a game, conceivably might try a passing attack against Navy.

Otterville Loses Two To Bunceton

Otterville's basketball teams both received setbacks Tuesday night at the hands of Bunceton with the boys losing 46-57 and the girls going down in defeat 23-42 on the Otterville court.

In the boys game Bunceton took an 11-4 lead in the first quarter and never relinquished. The invaders added three more points to their lead in the second period by outscoring the host team 11-8 for a half time score of 22-12.

Otterville's offensive strengthened in the third quarter as they scored 16 and held their opponents to 13 to cut Bunceton's lead to seven points. Bunceton took command in the last period, though, to outscore Otterville 22-18 for a final score of 54-46, with Bunceton the winner.

Paul Watring led Otterville's scoring with 4 field goals and 7 free throws for 15 points and Young led Bunceton's winning attack with 10 field goals and 6 free throws for 26 tallies.

In the girls' game the Bunceton team again dominated throughout the game as they outscored Otterville 12-4 in the first and 11-6 in the second quarter. Otterville tallied 10 to Bunceton's 7 in the third quarter, but never made a serious threat as Bunceton bounced right back with 12 to 3 for the hosts in the last period for a final score of 42-23.

Jane Miller was high scorer for Otterville with 10 points and Linhardt was high for Bunceton with 21 points.

Ed Lopat Has Agreed To Manage Virginians

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Ed Lopat, who has piloted Richmond to its two best finishes in history in the International League, has agreed Wednesday to manage the Virginians for 1958.

Lopat managed the Virginians to a fifth-place finish in 1955 and got the Vees up to third place last year after the loss of several players in mid - season caused Richmond to tumble from the league lead.

The Richmond manager spent 12 years in the major leagues, most of the time with the New York Yankees. He posted 109 victories in seven full seasons with the Yankees and had a 4-1 World Series pitching record.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Senior quarterback Dick Larson has been selected by his teammates as Minnesota's most valuable player of the 1957 football season.

Hustle, Bill Russell Put Celts in Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hustle and Bill Russell have enabled the Boston Celtics to grab a seven-game lead in the National Basketball Assn. And they need only another victory over New York tonight to tie a 9-year-old league record.

The Celts didn't have too much trouble with the Knickerbockers Wednesday night.

With Russell pouring in 30 points, they breezed 120-107, to make their record 14-0. The Washington Capitols, in 1948, won their first 15 games. The Caps also hold the NBA consecutive win streak of 17.

Each of the other six clubs also saw action. The St. Louis Hawks beat Detroit 121-110 and Cincinnati edged Minneapolis 107-106 in a doubleheader at Detroit, and Syracuse turned back Philadelphia 92-87.

The Celtics, minus Bob Cousy and Jim Loscutoff, rallied in the second quarter to take a 60-59 lead at halftime. Russell seored 19 points in this session. Then, with Russell and Frank Ramsey carrying the attack, Boston ran away from the Knicks in the third period. The teams meet again tonight in the opener of a doubleheader at Philadelphia.

St. Louis built a 20-point lead over the Pistons midway in the third quarter and although Detroit cut the margin to nine early in the fourth, the Hawks pulled away again. George Yardley of the Pistons led both clubs with 30 points while Bob Pettit paced St. Louis with 27.

Cincinnati was sparked by Clyde Lovellette who wound up with 23 points. The Royals blew a 14-point edge in the final period but managed to outlast the Lakers, who dropped their 14th game in 16 starts. Dick Schnittker was high for Minneapolis with 24 points.

Syracuse, which moved into sole possession of second place in the Eastern Division behind Boston, got fine support from Ed Conlin and Togo Palazzi. They had successive baskets to cut short a warrior rally late in the game. Philadelphia's Neil Johnston led both teams with 27 points.

Willie Pastrano Has Birthday Ring Victory

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Willie Pastrano celebrated his 22nd birthday last night with a bruising 10-round unanimous decision over Willi Besmanoff, a rough, tough boxer from Munich, Germany.

Although Pastrano, 190½ pounder from New Orleans who now makes his home here, scored 99 of a possible 100 points, ringsiders said they had never seen him take so much punishment in a Miami ring.

Besmanoff, weighing 185½, opened with jabs to the midriff and kept boring in while Pastrano flicked at his left eye and drew blood from his nose early in the heavyweight fight.

Pastrano, 5-1 favorite at fight time, tied up the German frequently but Willie kept hammering away at Pastrano's breadbasket and wading in for more blows to the head.

Besmanoff's face was red with blood midway in the fight but he kept coming back for more. There were no knockdowns.

The fourth-ranking Pastrano finished the fight practically unmarked. His shorter, stocky opponent had a mass of welts on his body and both eyes and his nose were battered.

Army Tackle Wins Battle Of the Books

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—By now, there is little doubt that the Army and Navy coaches know as much about each other's team as they do about their own.

In fact, there was a strong suspicion here today that Navy Coach Eddie Erdelatz might have been thinking about an Army player when he said his Navy eleven was "mentally elated" over the prospect of facing the Cadets in the 58th renewal of the service classic in Philadelphia Saturday.

About the time Erdelatz was talking to reporters in Annapolis, an instructor was posting grades for a makeup exam here.

The result was "mental elation" for reserve tackle Maurice Hilliard, a 210-pounder from Milan, Tenn., who has been fighting the battle of the books all season.

First he was dropped from the squad for academic deficiency before the Virginia game. He took a makeup and made it back in time to play against Colgate and Utah. Then the studies hit him again and his missed the Tulane game.

Army Coach Red Blaik also might have been thinking about Hilliard when he said the thing that pleases him most about the Army team is its ability to come back.

Some oddsmakers also might have had the young junior lineman in mind when they cut the points favoring Navy from six to three.

Cadet Hilliard not only means insurance for the thin Army line, but he dabbles in place-kicking on the side.

Indiscriminate Use of Any 'Wonderful Pill' Bad Policy

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

Today's first letter is an alarming one.

Q—I read an article about some wonderful pills from England. My sister sent me some and I am enclosing two of them. On the box it says: "Caution—it is dangerous to exceed the stated dose." — Mrs. D.

A—I do not know what these "wonderful" pills are, nor what they are supposed to be for. I do know, however, that it is risky to swallow drugs of an unknown nature aimed at accomplishing some uncertain effect. Any medicine which is strong enough to have value can also be strong enough to create harm. Leave the "wonderful" pills alone unless they are prescribed for you for some special purpose.

Q—I should like to know something about cystitis and how long it should be treated. — E. W.

A—Presumably this question refers to inflammation of the urinary bladder. There are several varieties of such inflammation, some of which can come from germs. The cause of some varieties is difficult to identify. If the cause is the result of infection, the treatment usually consists of giving antibiotics or drugs of the sulfa family. Sometimes the bladder must be washed by chemical solutions. The type of treatment and the duration of the cystitis will vary depending no cause, length of its existence and other factors.

Q—A friend of mine was trying to explain a certain device called a glycolator. Its function is supposed to be an aid in preventing colds and virus infections. Would you discuss this? — L. T.

A—This is a device which has been designed to force into the air certain chemical substances in droplet form which will kill disease germs floating in the atmosphere. It certainly has possibilities for use in enclosed areas and perhaps it will be perfected even further. At the present time I believe it has not achieved wide use.

Q—My sister-in-law has such a dry mouth she can hardly talk. She is 75 years old. Would you discuss this? — Mrs. H.

A—A deficiency in salivary secretion can come from any one of a number of causes, including diabetes, following certain fevers, inflammation of the kidneys and belladonna poisoning. Unfortunately, in a good many cases a definite cause cannot be discovered. It must be a most uncomfortable condition and every effort should be made to identify a correctable cause. If none can be found this dryness of the mouth (which presumably results from insufficient salivary secretion) can only be treated by methods which may ease the discomfort. If professional opinion permits, small doses of a drug known as pilocarpine may stimulate salivary secretion.

Q—If a patient has a temperature rise to 99.2 degrees every day could this be a symptom of cancer? — Mrs. B. R.

A—This is not a typical symptom of cancer. Such a slight degree of fever is probably of little significance.

Ruth Millett Says

Neat House Not Only Sign Of a Successful Mother

"It's really disgraceful what poor housekeepers most of today's young mothers are," said an older woman. As a baby sitter she sees the homes she goes to not when they are slicked up for company, but when they are left "as is" by a mother hurrying to keep an appointment.

Unless you stop to examine her charge that today's young mothers are poor housekeepers you might mark them down as a lazy lot.

But the truth of the matter is that most young mothers don't have the time to be the perfect housekeepers their grandmothers were.

Being a model housekeeper isn't their one big aim in life, nor is being a housekeeper all that is expected of them.

As a young matron today a woman is expected to take part in community projects. She is expected to make a place for her family socially. She is expected to be a companion to her husband, which may mean she is off hunting instead of staying at home to give the house a thorough housecleaning while her husband goes without her.

She is expected to take some part in all of the activities that involve her children. And today children are involved in plenty of activities, most of which in some way involve their parents.

Today's young mother is expected to do all of the family's chauffeuring which, if the family lives in a suburb, keeps a woman on the jump.

And to top it all, she is supposed to look as much like a glamor girl as she can manage for as long as she can cheat time.

Is it any wonder then that today's young homemakers aren't always good housekeepers?

Keeping a house in perfect order is no longer a woman's big concern, or the ultimate accomplishment by which she is judged.

Mission Study Group Sees Film on Africa

A film on Africa was shown at the mission atudy meeting held recently at the Versailles Baptist Church by Mrs. Maurice LaRue. Mrs. L. E. DeVinna gave the commentary.

Chapters of the book, "Continents in Commotion" were reviewed by Mrs. Ruby Cox, Mrs. Moss McDonald and Mrs. Edgar Carpenter.

The hostesses, Mrs. Quincy Garrison and Mrs. Frank Rowe, served refreshments.

Have that steak at room temperature before you grill it outdoors. This rule applies to chops, too. And trim all excess fat to prevent flare-ups.

Woman Starts Pilgrimage To Her Church

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—A 46-year-old woman started trudging the 387 miles from here to her home church Wednesday to fulfill a vow.

Mrs. Manuela R. Carreon of Texas City, Tex., started walking from the Galveston County Courthouse to the Mission de Juan Catholic Church in San Juan in the lower tip of Texas. Galveston is on the Gulf Coast in southeast Texas.

Despite a heart condition, she said she expected to finish the trip in three or four weeks. "I will rest whenever night finds me," she told newsmen.

Wednesday night found her at Hitchcock, Tex., slightly more than 20 miles away.

A jury acquitted her son Alfonso Carreon Jr., 27, of the knife slaying of Adolph Saldua, 29. Saldua died after a fight in a Texas City tavern Dec. 1, 1956. Young Carreon pleaded self-defense.

Mrs. Carreon, whose husband sells garden produce, said she promised the Virgin of San Juan that she would make the walk if her son was freed.

Dressed in black and wearing foam rubber shoes, she started out after the jury announced its verdict. Around her neck hung a small crucifix. In a small paper bag she held a rosary. She had no knapsack, no food and no water.

She did have a small bottle of pills for her heart condition. She said her doctor, Dr. Ed Kealy of Texas City, has given her permission to fulfill the vow.

Christmas really does belong to kids this year. A toddler embraces a couple of old friends with new faces (upper left) in form of a glamorous French poodle and a bassett hound. Both are soft, stuffed and cuddly. Rock and roll enough to set any parent jumping comes in form (upper right) of new trap and drum set with leopard trim. Basic shapes and forms (lower left) help a child to learn through play. Shown here are fish and Christmas tree in cut-out form. Like father, like son. This little boy (lower right) can imitate his dad who's a power tool fan. He has his own play drill, a battery-powered device that screws and bolts down only through a steel work bench which comes with the kit. The drill also grinds, buffs and polishes.

World Briefs

TAIPEI (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek today watched a simulated invasion by Nationalist marines he hopes will one day establish beachheads on the Red China coast.

The exercise, in which a reinforced division of marines took part, was staged near the southwest Formosa port of Kaohsiung.

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Marshal P. Pibulsonggram, former premier of Thailand who flew to Cambodia after he was overthrown in a bloodless coup last September, announced today he plans to leave next Tuesday for Hong Kong and Tokyo.

He said he would go to Japan for about eight months for a medical checkup and a cure, and then go to India for a stay.

SEOUL (AP)—South Korean police headquarters flashed nationwide orders today to catch the thieves who broke into the closely guarded villa of President Syngman Rhee over the weekend and are still at large, it was learned.

A carpet and 34 other items reportedly worth $1,200 were stolen.

TAIPEI (AP) — The offshore islands of Quemoy and Little Quemoy were at the receiving end of 98 Communist shells late Wednesday and early today, the Defense Ministry reported. It said no damage or casualties were suffered, but did not mention whether the defenders hit back.

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — A young American sailor charged by Cuban authorities with attempting to transport arms to rebels has been turned over to the U. S. Navy for court-martial.

Robert Franklin Riggs, Baltimore, Md., was arrested when his car crashed during a chase by Cuban police.

Cuban officials said police had been tipped that a car with U. S. license plates was carrying smuggled arms.

Toys Help Children Believe That They Have Grown Up

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

The toys that come from Santa's pack this Christmas will help children in a realistic fashion to make believe that they're grown up.

In the juvenile kitchen, there are matched miniature appliances in the same pastel colors that mother's are. High style plastic tea sets, tiny carpet sweepers and small size laundry equipment and mixers all make it easy for a little girl to play house.

This demand for authentic replicas extends to tiny sewing machines, layettes and bathinettes, doll cradles and cribs. Small boys get tool chests, battery-driven play drills that are completely safe and even an electric fuzz buzz shaver set.

Dolls are really sophisticated this year. Little girls have become fashion-conscious and are especially fond of the eight-inch doll with elaborate wardrobe, beauty aids and even miniature furniture sets.

Even musical toys look and sound like the real thing. Electronic organs, golden harps, pianos and vibraphones will help junior to reproduce accurately the sound of someone stepping on a cat.

Many parents will be grateful that all is not stark realism in toyland this year. There are still toy corn poppers, giant nested blocks, blackboards, puzzles and paint sets, toy animals, trikes and bikes.

Back in the realm of the realistic, toy manufacturers have reproduced enough miniature equipment to build a small highway. They've created for Christmas supply trucks and wreckers, loaders and dumpers, concrete mixers and road graders.

When you go Christmas toy shopping, remember that what fascinates you may not interest a child at all. So buy for children rather than for yourself.

Look for safety in toys. There should be no sharp edges. Or small pieces that can be dislodged and swallowed. Buy durable toys but remember that toys should be fun.

Jury Exonerates Woman Who Shot 2 Others Fatally

HUGO, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. Rachel Warren, 65-year-old Choctaw County woman who didn't want to be "run over," was within her rights when she shot down two Texas women, a coroner's jury ruled Wednesday.

A verdict of justifiable homicide was returned by the six-man jury.

Shot to death Nov. 18 at the Warren home 12 miles southwest of here were the woman's former daughter-in-law, Mrs. Joann Warren, 24, San Antonio, Tex.; and Mrs. Ethel Hunter Kappelmann, 50, Blanco, Tex., mother of the other victim.

Mrs. Warren said the women came to her home seeking her 4-year-old grandson—son of the younger woman—and attempted to force their way into the house.

After they began trying to force open the screen door, she began firing, the woman testified.

"I'm sorry it happened," she said, "but I didn't intend for them to take the baby this time. I'd been run over before and it looked they were going to do it again."

She said the young Mrs. Warren and her son, Charles, had been divorced more than two years, and the father had been awarded custody of the child.

Nurse Tells Club Of 'Anesthesia'

Mrs. Pete Petersen, health chairman and registered nurse, spoke on "Anesthesia" at the November meeting of the Brick Extension Club. She began by telling of the early attempts of surgery without anesthetics and how surgical progress was so slow until anesthesia was improved. She told of the various types of anestesia and the kinds of drugs used in each. She also led a safety quiz where each member judged her own safety habits in and about her home.

Recognition was given Mrs. Burford Jenkins and Mrs. Clyde Paul for their work as 4-H leaders. A gift was presented to them. Mrs. Jenkins, who will be community leader next year, reported on the banquet for 4-H members, leaders and parents at Boonville.

Mrs. Frank Yeager gave a talk on meat cookery. Plans were made for the Christmas dinner to be served at the high school.

Refreshments were served to 11 members and four guests by the hostess, Mrs. Cecil Rodgers.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Final plans for a 100-bed addition at a cost of $785,000 have been approved by directors of Burge Hospital.

The hospital has had a 700 per cent increase in business since 1949, said Board Chairman Lester E. Cox.

Royal Sisters Wear Daring Evening Dresses

LONDON (AP)— Queen Elizabeth II and Princess Margaret Wednesday night wore a couple of the most daring evening dresses of their royal social careers.

The royal sisters didn't appear together. This was just as well, for the joint effect might have been too electrifying.

The Queen's appearance was at a British Museum reception among white-haired elders in London.

Princess Margaret was the guest of honor at a students' ball in Staffordshire.

Elizabeth II donned a full skirted dress of white tulle, cut low in the front and the back, and held up by two tiny jeweled starps that hugged her white shoulders.

While the sovereign was appearing barebacked in London, Princess Margaret was doing the same thing in a strapless blue satin gown in rural Keele.

Partial to low-cut dresses, she must have been in love with the one she wore to the student's ball of Universtiy College of Stanfordshire.

Margaret danced waltzes, rumbas and did a modified jive when the band played that old rouser, "When the Saints go Marching in."

Eleven students were selected to dance with Margaret.

She was still at it at 2:30 a.m.

Believe Same Man Robbed Two Banks

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The bandit who robbed the Standard State Bank of $9,464 yesterday apparently is the same man who held up the Bank of Riverside last month, Police Lt. Harry Nesbitt said today.

A car abandoned by the bandit in the Standard Bank holdup has tentatively been traced to John Harris Hudson, a 43-year-old ex-convict sought in the $2,942 Riverside Bank robbery, Nesbitt said.

Witnesses have tentatively identified pictures of Hudson, the lieutenant added.

The Standard Bank was held up at closing time by a man described as 45 years old, 5 feet 7 inches, weighing about 150 pounds. He eluded three pursuers, including bank vice president Heber Roney, in a 12-block chase.

Roney fired three shots at the man after he abandoned his car in Kansas City's intercity district, but lost the bandit when he ducked into underbrush.

US Globemaster Hits Hill, Three Killed

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—A U. S. Globemaster transport plane today crashed into a hill near Ankara killing three of the eight passengers.

First reports said the Globemaster crashed in thick fog.

Two passengers were reported seriously injured.

No further details were immediately available.

Will Begin Testing Of Nuclear Rocket Propulsion Next Year

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission says static testing will begin late next year on nuclear rocket propulsion.

The facilities to be used will be at the Nevada test site, officials said here Wednesday.

The Sierra Construction Corp. of Las Vegas, Nev., has been awarded a $2,058,355 contract for construction work at the site.

Construction is already under way on roads into the technical area from Mercury, Nev., and on roads within the area which is located about 75 miles northwest of Las Vegas.

New Policy Is Easier On Treasurers

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Harassed corporation treasurers are breathing easier today now that they won't have to look up everyone's expense accounts for 10 months back.

But the Internal Revenue Service still intends to take a close look at big accounts it might find unreasonable. And starting five weeks from today it will insist on seeing even the smallest and most ordinary ones.

It also plans to give closer scrutiny to the prizes and awards that the boss may give for achievements, such as winning sales contests.

Protests from businessmen and their employe that past expense accounts had been filed at the corporate treasurer's office and forgotten led the Internal Revenue Service to reverse an earlier order that detailed reports on them be filed with the 1957 income tax return.

But with the reversal came the stern warning that "the long-standing rules which the revenue service has been following with respect to substantiation of deductions when a taxpayer's return is audited" still stand—and the service is getting tougher about them.

Tax agents in the field have been instructed to watch for omissions of big expense accounts and for questionable entries on the 1957 returns.

Starting Jan. 1, moreover, all employes whose expenses for the firm are paid by the boss must report the total on Page 2 of the 1958 tax return and attach an accounting of what the money was spent for.

Rumors Will Fly Again

Sherman Adams Again Bears Additional Responsibilities

WASHINGTON (AP) —President Eisenhower's latest illness gives added responsibility to his chief assistant, white-haired Sherman Adams, who has been trying to beat down rumors that he is a power behind the scenes.

The 58-year-old former New Hampshire governor is the key man once again in deciding what problems are important enough to put before the recuperating President.

Already tabbed as one of the most influential men in the country, Adams can expect the current White House situation to add to that reputation — despite his protests.

Only 10 days ago, Adams denied publicly in a Chicago speech that he or any other White House staff member "usurp the prerogatives" of Eisenhower, who once jokingly called him "the boss."

Adams said the President's staff is suspect sometimes because it works behind the scenes "to help see that things are done that the President wants done."

But, Adams explained, Eisenhower makes the decisions and his staff tries to make sure the President is "the best informed man in the world."

Adams, who gets $22,500 a year in his job, is known as a hard worker, with a rugged temperament and a brusqueness that sometimes makes him enemies.

A onetime lumberjack and former congressman, he sees himself as a buffer for Eisenhower against the tremendous pressures of the presidential office.

He has come to be the man to see if you want something from the President.

Just a few days ago, Rep. Thompson (D-NJ) said Adams wields power that "would have been envied by even Prince Machiavelli." But Thompson charged Adams failed in "his specific tasks" of keeping the President and the public informed on Russia's Sputnik I and other Soviet scientific achievements.

Adams first met Eisenhower in 1952, a time when he was concluding his second term as governor of New Hampshire. Adams was among the first of a number of Republicans who sought to persuade the then five-star general to seek the presidency. When Eisenhower decided to run, he picked Adams as his campaign chief of staff. After the election, Adams stayed with Eisenhower to head his White House staff.

Voodoo Spans US and Back Under 7 Hours

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A crew cut Air Force captain flying a swept-wing Voodoo jet has set a new speed record by flashing across the country and back in less than seven hours.

Capt. Robert Sweet, 30, Barronett, Wis., was among four Air Force fliers who made a mass assault yesterday on three records held by the Navy. All bettered the Navy marks.

Sweet zoomed his twin-jet RF101 Voodoo across the finish line at nearby March Air Force Base, pulled up into a lazy slow roll and then came in for a perfect landing on the sun-lit runway.

His time: 6 hours, 42 minutes and 6.7 seconds.

This bettered the Navy record of 9 hours and 31 minutes, set last March by an A3D fighter-bomber.

Records set in the Tactical Air Command speed dash:

Los Angeles to New York—3 hours, 5 minutes and 39.2 seconds, by 1st Lt. Gustav Klatt, 29, San Marcos, Tex. (Old record: 3 hours 22 minutes).

New York to Los Angeles—3 hours, 34 minutes and 8 seconds, by Capt. Sweet. (Old record: 5 hours, 14 minutes).

Round trip—Capt. Sweet.

Capt. Ray Schrecengost Jr., 31, Kittanning, Pa., was the first of the group to take off and the first to complete the transcontinental round trip flight. But his time was slightly slower than Sweet's.

Klatt and Capt. Robert Kilpatrick, 32, Bristol, Conn., landed at McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey and did not attempt the return trip.

Sweet and Klatt were awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for their record-busting flights. Schrecengost and Kilpatrick were presented Air Medals as runners-up.

Sweet and Schrecengost flew at between 45,000 and 49,000 feet over the 4,890-mile route. They were refueled four times by Stratotankers.

Sweet, who averaged 716 m.p.h. hit a top speed of 1,000 m.p.h. just before he landed when headwinds suddenly stopped.

Miss Couhig Named For Wilson Fellowship

Beverly Couhig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Couhig, 900 South Quincy, has been nominated by the faculty of Saint Mary College, Xavier, Kan., for a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship. The nomination of Miss Couhig, a senior drama-English major, was made at the college during American Education Week, Nov. 10-16.

The Woodrow Wilson Fellowships, awarded for one year of graduate study, are granted to enable students to continue work in their field of interest at any American or Canadian college or university of their choice. The fellows are granted stipends for living expenses plus tuition.

The nominees must have the highest qualities of intellect, character, and personality, and be nominated by members of the academic profession. Names of those selected by the Foundation for the fellowship will be announced in the spring of 1958.

NO FISH STORY—Aquarium attendant Bill Duncan has a fish to dinner every day at the Park Aquarium, Vancouver, B.C. The finny guest, some 14 inches long, is known only as the "mystery fish." He takes morsels of food right from Duncan's lips. The fish was caught in a gill net some 400 miles off the west coast of Vancouver Island. Where he acquired his table manners is as much a mystery as is his species.

White House Staff Asked For Opinion

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, who decided Tuesday that President Eisenhower's illness raised no question of delegation of presidential powers, said today he acted at the request of White House staff members.

He did not specify any individual person, but said in an interview the request came from the White House staff rather than from any member of Eisenhower's official family.

First word that the matter had been discussed came from Vice President Nixon, who announced Rogers had informed him and members of the cabinet no delegation of powers was necessary at present.

Nixon did not say by what authority or at whose request Rogers had given his advaice.

Rogers said he gave his opinion to the White House executive staff after "a full discussion" with President Eisenhower's physicians. They reported Eisenhower's ailment apparently was "mild and transitory," and said his reading, writing and reasoning powers were not affected.

Rogers apparently relied in his actions on the slim and somewhat informal precedent set by his predecessor, Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. after President Eisenhower had his heart attack at Denver in September 1955.

Brownell at that time said he had carefully examined all the medical reports on the condition of the recuperating President, and that no question of delegation was presented.

In that situation and in the present one, officials were and are confronted with the question of who decides, and at what time, whether the president is unable to carry out his official functions.

Eisenhower has proposed unsuccessfully that the Constitution be amended to let the president, or his cabinet if he were incapacitated, designate the vice president as acting president.

Kansas Is Ambassador To Saudi Arabia

WASHINGTON (AP)— Donald R. Heath, a 63-year-old native of Topeka, Kas., has been appointed ambassador to Saudi Arabia, effective next spring.

He was named to the post by President Eisenhower yesterday. He will replace George Wadsworth, who will retire.

Heath, a former newspaperman, now is ambassador to Lebanon where he has served since 1955.

He entered the foreign service in 1920 and since has held posts in Europe, Latin America, and the Far East and Middle East.

During World War II he was a political adviser on German affairs at Allied Supreme Headquarters, and later was director of political affairs in the U. S. Military government in Germany.

New Paint Store Has Been Located On South Limit

The Sherwin - Williams Co., world's largest manufacturer of paints, has signed a lease for the store property located at 918 South Limit.

The transaction was handled through K. A. Buchholz, owner of the building.

The store premises will be occupied by a Sherwin - Williams Branch, operating both as a retail outlet and a service center for painting contractors and for Sherwin-Williams dealers in this area.

"We selected Sedalia for a new branch because this is a progressive community," said Mr. Drummond, regional director of the Sherwin-Williams Co. with headquarters in Kansas City. "An analysis of recent residential and industrial growth indicated a need for a complete paint and color service center.

"After remodeling we will open the most completely stocked paint outlet in this area. Our inventory will include a full line of interior finishes and exterior house paints, plus special purpose finishes used by the professional painter. This branch will also be in a position to serve manufacturers in the area with specialized product finishes."

The store structure includes 5000 square feet of floor space. Remodeling operations are to start immediately. No date has been set for the formal opening of the branch, but it is expected to be ready for business by Jan. 1, states J. M. Yount, who will manage the local branch.

To remove fresh peach, pear, cherry or plum stains from cottons, soak stains in cool water; then work in suds of nonalkaline detergent; rinse.

Second Is Sales Tax

Federal Grants Are State's Top Single Income Source

Federal grants account for Missouri state government's largest single source of revenue, Missouri Public Expenditure Survey pointed out in a study of the state's tax and revenue system published today. Second largest revenue source, 23 per cent of the total, is the sales tax, the governmental resaerch group added.

The Survey study describes each of the state's 28 taxes and 115 licenses and fees, telling who must pay, when and where, rates, exemptions and yields.

The tax handbook shows that Missouri's total revenue for the year ending June, 1957, was $426 million. Of this total, $263 million represents tax revenues. The remainder, $163 million, came from a variety of non-tax and non-fee receipts such as federal grants, bond sales and institutional receipts such as payments by counties and individuals for care of patients in state hospitals.

Total state receipts have increased 115 per cent during the last nine years, the survey study showed, but it warned that if the present pattern of increasing state expenditures continues, existing state revenues will be oustripped. For example, the study pointed out that the state's general revenue fund appropriations for the 1957-58 fiscal year exceed estimated current receipts by more than $12 million, with the difference having to be made up from the General Fund balance. Although the yield from present state taxes has increased substantially, the Survey said, addition of new state programs and expansion of existing ones financed from general revenue have already necessitated one new tax—the 2-cent-a-package cigarette tax adopted in 1955 which brings $10 million a year into the state treasury.

It costs the average Missourian about $3 out of every $10 he earns to pay the cost of local, state and federal government, the survey said. Per capita income in Missouri, it explained, is about $1,858 of which nearly 30 per cent, or $547, goes for taxes.

The total per capita tax burden in the state is divided as follows: Uncle Sam, $420; state government, $63; local government, $64.

Missouri, with a per capita tax burden for state government of $63 compared to the 48-state average of $87, ranks forty-fourth among the states, the study showed. The survey cautioned, however, that only limited conclusions should be drawn from such state-by-state comparative tax data. Some states have higher taxes because they have adopted programs Missouri has passed up such as a World War II bonus that would have required substantial added taxation. Other costs which necessitate the imposition of state taxes vary from state to state. For example, the survey pointed out it costs more to build highways in a mountainous state than in a level one. Another example cited by the survey is the variation among the states in living costs reflected in state salaries, wages and other expenses.

Also affecting taxation is the efficiency with which states spend tax dollars. It said some states get more than others from their tax dollars through sound statutes, better budgeting and more efficient administration.

One conclusion that can be drawn from Missouri's per capita tax burden position among the states, the survey said, is simply that in an era of tremendous overall tax burden, it is at present costing Americans less than the citizens of most states to provide state government.

Is Hudson New King Of Hollywood?

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Is Rock Hudson the new king of Hollywood?

He has been nominated to inherit the mantle of the great Clark Gable, and the suggestion makes some sense. He is the first newcomer in many, many years to approach Gable in stature and virility. He is probably the most sought-after leading man in films today.

The measure of his strength is illustrated in the fact that he has been chosen by the powerful Theater Owners of America as the "Star of the Year." He was given the award at the TOA's convention in Miami last Saturday.

Rock is obviously solid at the box office. His last few pictures have been winners in the money department, though some have been less than sterling entires.

What does Rock think of this "king" business?

"I think it's nonsense," he replied. "I don't know how it got started, but I'd like to put a stop to it. Me king? Not on your life. Court jester, maybe."

If the kingly title sticks, Rock will be a monarch without rule. For he is the subject of Universal-International for the next five years.

This was a surprise to me, because I thought he would be coming to the end of his deal with the studio, where he started as an unknown a decade ago.

"It would have been over," he explained, "except for one thing: 'I wanted to do 'Giant.' It was too good an opportunity to pass up. But the only way the studio would let me do it was to sign up for another contract. So I did."

"Giant" paid off for him in king-size proportions. It brought Rock his first Academy nomination and impressed producers and public alike.

He is now paying off in servitude. At a hefty salary ($2,000 a week?), it's not bad duty. But he has been working steadily for 18 months, either with loanouts or pictures at U-I, where he's now making "Twilight of the Gods."

What's more, the loanouts provide only his usual salary. The studio collects the difference, and Rock figures he makes only a tenth of what is charged for his services.

Doesn't that gripe him?

"You bet it does," he replied. "But I'm not going to get ulcers worrying about it."

He has already set up his own production company, but he can't legally work for it for another five years. He is hoping the studio will revise his contract to allow him more freedom, and talks have been going on toward that end.

Brainwashing Unforgettable TV Production

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—It will be a long time before a television viewer can forget the extraordinary impact of "Brainwashing" on Twentieth Century Sunday evening.

Here was a lucid explanation of the methods devised by the Communist states to force confession of guilt from the innocent. But the program exceeded the merely descriptive. It engaged the emotions by recapturing, in a combination of excellent direct interviews and dramatic scenes, some crucial moments of mankind under stress.

A receptive mind could not help but respond to the candid accounts of several who had been brainwashed: Dr. Edith Bone, a British subject and former Communist who spent seven years in a Hungarian dungeon; William Oatis of The Associated Press, imprisoned in Czechoslovakia for two years; Robert Ford, a British civilian incarcerated in China for five years; the crew of a U.S. Air Force plane captured in Korea and accused of waging germ warfare.

Dr. Bone, who was 61 when captured and 68 when released, was especially articulate in re-enacting the means whereby she resisted confession and endured solitary confinement.

She made memorable points on the sources of her strength: As a former Communist she was convinced of the malicious design of her captors; as one of her 60s she felt that most of her life was behind her and she was atoning for past sins; as one with wide intellectual resources she had attained great self-sufficiency.

Walter Cronkite, that excellent newsman and narrator of twentieth Century, intelligently underscored a basic source of the ability to survive under stress: a free and cultivated mind is the mark of the strong individual. . . .

PLENTY OF PULL — Surf casting at Cape Hatteras, Amelia Ballance caught this unofficial world all-tackle record channel bass to be landed by a woman. The fish, almost as big as the Buxton, N.C., angler, weighed 63 pounds and was 52 inches from tip to tail. An 8/0 hook was baited with fresh mullet on a 36-pound test nylon line and 10½ rod.

Tuna, Rice and Mushroom Dish

Ingredients: 3 tablespoons fat, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 2 tablespoons minced green pepper, 3 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ⅛ teaspoon nutmeg, 1 cup milk, 1 can (6-ounces) sliced broiled mushrooms, 1 can (7-ounces) tuna fish, 1½ cups hot cooked rice, paprika.

Method: Melt fat in saucepan. Add onion and green pepper and cook over moderate heat until just tender, about 5 minutes. Stir in flour, salt, pepper and nutmeg. Add milk and mushrooms (including liquid in can). Bring to quick boil, stirring constantly. Drain tuna fish and separate into small chunks. Add tuna and rice to mushroom sauce. Mix gently but well and place into 4 greased individual baking dishes. Dust lightly with paprika. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven until thoroughly hot, about 25 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Hors d'Oeuvre Substitutes for Dips

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Once in a while, when you're entertaining, you might enjoy straying from the ubiquitous dips and spreads that nowadays are usually served with crackers, raw vegetables and crisp vegetable chips.

For an occasion when you are ready and willing to do some preparation ahead, small sandwiches dipped in a French-toast mixture and fried until golden brown will be something different to offer your guests. The filling for this hors d'oeuvre combines deviled ham with cheese and pickle relish, and the attractive garnishes are pickle "fans," pimiento stars and stripes and sliced stuffed olives.

If you can't resist adding a dip to your snack bar, you can hollow out a small red cabbage, fill it with a mustard or spicy fruit sauce and surround it with small hot frankfurters. The franks are dippled into the sauce, so you'll need to have a small container of wooden cocktail picks at hand. The filling for the French-toast hors d'oeuvre also makes an excellent spread served with some of the new potato crackers or with small squares of pumpernickel bread.

TEMPTING HORS D'OEUVRES: Sandwiches dipped in French-toast mixture and fried make a tempting snack when filled with deviled ham and cheese or pickle relish.

French-Toast Hors D'Oeuvre

Ingredients: 1 can (4½ ounces) deviled ham, 1 cup (¼ pound) grated sharp cheddar cheese, sweet pickle relish, 16 slices thin bread, 2-3 cup evaporated milk, 2 eggs, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, ½ teaspoon caraway seed, butter or margarine, pickle fans, tiny stars and stripes cut from drained canned pimiento, sliced stuffed olives.

Method: Mix the deviled ham and grated cheese with pickle relish to taste. Trim crusts from bread. Spread about 2 tablespoons of the filling on 8 of the slices; top with remaining slices. Cut into triangles, squares or oblongs. Beat evaporated milk (undiluted), eggs, mustard and caraway seed together in a shallow pan. Dip sandwiches into mixture, turning to coat both sides. Preparation may be done several hours ahead and at this point sandwiches may be refrigerated in a covered container. At serving time, brown both sides of sandwiches in a small amount of butter in skillet; cook slowly so as to have a slightly crisp golden-brown exterior. Garnish with pickle fans, pimiento shapes or sliced olives. Serve at once. Makes about 24.

RECIPE NOTES

To make the pickle fans for the garnish, make parallel slits in gherkins from one end almost to the other end of each pickle and spread out in fan shape.

Miniature cutters may be bought in sets in the housewares department of many shops; there's usually a star-shaped cutter among these that can be used to shape pimiento.

An electric tray or an uncovered chafing dish will keep the French Toasted hors d'oeuvre hot at serving time.

Too Many Snags

Saul Pett Decides Against Holding Out for Year 2057

NEW YORK (AP) — There seems to be a new national anthem titled: "Be kind to your scientist week."

Sub-title: "Befriend your basic research boy or he'll sneak out of the lab and go into the dry goods business."

Now, I realize this new evangelism was born out of pure reverence for knowledge and absolute truth and, of course, has no connection with national panic. Still, I must confess, there are times when a heathen superstition keeps me from being swept off my feet, stops me from kneeling in prayer over the New Testament of the Test Tube.

Almost every time the new faith begins to seize me, something happens: A bunch of scientists get together and paint a futuristic picture of the paradise to come on earth.

They did it again just the other day. Now, just how much connection there was between the prophecies and the products being celebrated, I can not say and I don't think it would be fair of you to draw any inferences.

Eight top-rank scientists at a distiller's party came up with this picture of man (or woman) 100 years from now:

He'll be able to control the size, shape and function of his own body; talk through his mind instead of his mouth; remove all mental illness and control his emotions and impulses with drops or pills; select the sex of his unborn baby and determine whether he'll have singlets, twins or triplets; if he doesn't want his own baby, he'll be able to shop for and then hatch the sperm and eggs of long-dead people of proven virture and talent; dine on vegetable dishes and synthetics, since the rest of the animal kingdom will have been consumed by then; vacation at lavish hotels hung in outer space and receive his mail through satellite radio signals.

WOW!

Except for the fact that they're convinced man in the year 2057 will work only four or eight hours a week, I find the scientists' dream of the future a screaming nightmare.

I visualize the human form being shaped to fit the furniture, not vice versa. Tuesday, I'll be contoured. Wednesday I'll sprout wings for the butterfly chair. Thursday I'll take in a little here and there to squeeze into my microscopic sports car.

In this suspenseful world of vegetating vegetarians, a hostess warming up for her dinner party will take glib conversation pills and her guests, antiboredom drops. The timid soul going in to ask for a raise will first take courage pills and the boss, seeing him enter, will take antisympathy pills.

There will be pills for everything but the divorce rate, I'm convinced, will zoom into the stratosphere. Trying to figure out what a woman is saying is torture enough; trying to figure out what she's thinking will defy even the wave of the future.

Verbally or mentally, there will be endless arguments between man and wife 100 years hence.

"Let's go to Mars again. I can get a discount."

"You and your cliche thinking! Mars is overloaded with humans. Let's go to Saturn. It's more chic. Nobody goes there."

"I'm telling you for the last time, it'll be a boy!"

"That's what you think. Remember, you picked the last one. Anyway, it's already been arranged. We'll have a quiet girl this time. I promised the babysitter."

"I want a boy, a brown-haired boy."

"I want a girl, with chartreuse hair. Mother says it'll go with our new living room. It's the big thing this year."

I want not to be there, in the year 2057.

Pett Has Irreverent Thoughts Suited to Thanksgiving Day

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP)— Some suggestions, reminders, helpful hints and irreverent thoughts on this Thanksgiving Day:

Eight, 12 or 36 pounds, the bird still has only two drumsticks, two wings, one breast, one wishbone.

Cold or warm, fair or cloudy, there will be 23,486,546 women who this day will say, "I wish my husband would take the trouble to learn to carve like that."

Etiquette books agreed that a guest need not reassure a querulous hostess-cook more than nine times when she asks, "Does it really taste all right?"

Tonight, in 12,876,987 American homes, mother will firmly resolve that the next year she will serve dinner before the game to be sure everyone is there on time.

Tonight, in 12,876,987 other American homes, mother will firmly resolve that next year she will serve dinner after the game to be sure half the family doesn't rush off without their pie.

Neither etiquette nor wisdom really require you to comment when the woman gorging herself says, "Tomorrow, I start my diet."

In 3,478,233 American homes the dining room rug will be spotted by an uncle showing how the mountaineers used to pour cider from a jug on their shoulder without spilling a drop.

There will not be a single dinner served in a single American home today without at least one female warbling, "You must give me that recipe."

In 19,465,432 American homes there will be a comprehensive discussion of the current pound price of turkeys, which will lead to a discussion of the old days, which will lead to a discussion of today's economy, which will lead to a discussion of politics, which will lead to a strained silence, which will lead a nervous hostess to say, "It must be 20 minutes of."

Within a half hour after the guests arrive in any one of 19,786,543 American homes, someone will say brightly: "Say, why don't you kids watch television?"

By departure time, the national affection for children will have diminished perceptibly.

Sixty-six and two-thirds per cent of the people who say, "I don't care", when the carver asks if they prefer light meat or dark, will be lying.

Eighty-three per cent of today's hostesses will remain taut until their sister-in-law, taking a devilishly long time about it, finally announces, "Well, you had the family for Thanksgiving. Now, you must all come to our place for Christmas."

Gein Returned To Hospital After Test

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Edward Gein was returned to Central State Hospital for the Criminal Insane yesterday after undergoing another lie detector test at the state crime laboratory about his admitted killings and grave robberies.

After the session, his second here within a week, Atty. Gen. Stewart Honeck said Gein, a 51-year-old bachelor recluse of rural Plainfield, complained of a headache and general physical discomfort.

Honeck said a general understanding had been reached that Gein will be questioned further upon completion of his 30-day observation period at the state hospital.

The attorney general said he expected no developments in the case at least for the next week or two.

Gein was ordered to the hospital after pleading innocent by reason of insanity to first-degree murder in the death of Mrs. Bernice Worden, 58, a hardware store operator at Plainfield, Nov. 16. On his first trip to the crime laboratory he also admitted killing Mrs. Mary Hogan, 54, who vanished in December 1954, from her small tavern in Portage County only a few miles from Gein's farm home.

Gein told authorities that skulls and other anatomical parts found in his farmhouse, and now under scrutiny by the laboratory, were stolen from graves of other women.

After yesterday's examination Honeck said Gein had admitted robbing two more graves, bringing the total to nine—one at Spiritland Cemetery, Portage County; one at Hancock, Waushara County; and seven at Plainfield.

Honeck said we can not at this time exclude the possibility that a 10th grave had been violated.

Lemon Pie — Beverage

Roast Pork Butt and Vegetables

Ingredients: 2½ pounds smoked boneless pork shoulder butt, 1½ teaspoons kitchen bouquet, 3 tablespoons honey, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, ½ teaspoon ginger, ½ teaspoon grated onion, ½ pound snap beans, ½ pound carrots.

Method: Remove stockinet wrapping from pork butt and wipe thoroughly with a damp cloth. Place on rack in shallow baking pan. Blend together kitchen bouquet, honey, mustard, ginger and grated onion. Brush mixture over entire surface of butt. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until pork is cooked through — about 1 hour and 15 minutes. When pork is nearly done, cut tips from green beans and slice into diagonal 2 - inch lengths. Scrape carrots and cut into thin 2-inch sticks. Cook beans and carrots in a small amount of boiling salted water until just tender crisp. Remove pork butt and rack from baking pan. Drain vegetables and place in baking pan, stirring lightly until they take up the drippings from the pork. Cover pan and return to oven for 5 minutes. Cut pork in ¼ - inch thick slices and serve with vegetables. Makes 6 servings.

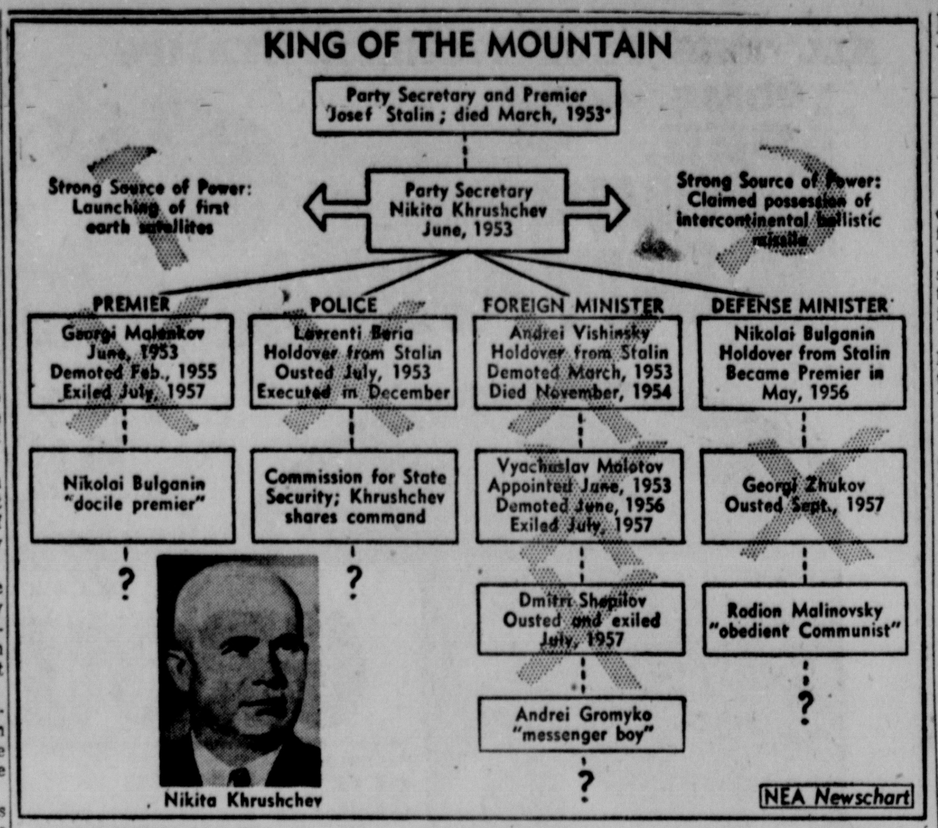

Man Has Trouble Locating Lost Money

DALLAS (AP)—Floyd Coker, 82, a pensioner who formerly lived in San Antonio, told police he and his wife sold their home there for $3,000.

Coker took his half to a bank for safekeeping, he said. His wife, 76, hid her share in the couple's East Dallas apartment, he said. His wife tried unsuccessfully to reveal the hiding place shortly before she died April 7 of pneumonia, he said. He asked police for help and detectives searched the apartment, but reported yesterday they could find no money.

KING OF THE MOUNTAIN

UNDISPUTED RULER?—Since the death of Josef Stalin, who held dictatorial sway over Russia for a generation, one man has step by step removed every obstacle to securing for himself the role vacated by Stalin. Newschart shows how Nikita Khrushchev, as Communist Party Secretary, has had potential rivals demoted, ousted, exiled and even executed, and has reduced the power of the most important posts in the Soviet government. The most recent ouster, that of "too popular" war hero Georgi Zhukov, may have eliminated Khrushchev's last serious contender.

One Thanksgiving Day Essay Worth Attention

DALLAS (AP) — Mrs. Frank Reeves gave her seventh graders at St. Edwards Academy a simple assignment yesterday: She wanted one paragraph on why we should be specially grateful on Thanksgiving Day.

One said, "I thank God for my good parents and the free and happy new life in the United States, the freedom of religion, the nice schools and teachers in this wonderful country. I learn here many new things. I thank also to God for the food and clothing. This is my first Thanksgiving Day."

It was writtten by Imre Kocsis, 12, a Hungarian refugee laboring with a language he started to learn only last February.

Army Ordnance Unit Quiets Rumors About Visitors From Space

MORRIS, Ill. (AP)—It took an Army ordnance unit from Fort Sheridan to quiet rumors of space visitors and secret weapons in the Morris area yesterday.

Several area farmers reported finding silvery objects, round and about the size of a fist, lying in their fields. The rumors fanned out over the countryside.

Civil Defense Director Robert M. Woodward in Chicago was called. A demolition team hustled in from Fort Sheridan.

The Army identified the objects as "chaff," aluminum strips dropped from airplanes to jam radar.

The material usually disintegrates before hitting ground, the Army said, but some airman neglected to take this batch out of its metal containers.

Evident at News Conference

Nixon Moves Confidently In Duties in Ike's Absence

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon has moved with confidence and self-awareness into whatever vacuum President Eisenhower's illness has caused—all the while disclaiming any change in status.

"My role at the present time I think is best described by my title," he told an extraordinary White House news conference. "I am the vice president."

But he conceded he is acting for the President sometimes—in consulting with Cabinet officers and in ceremonial functions.

Nixon's confidence in himself was made abundantly clear last night when he submitted to reporters' questions in the office of presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty.

"No questions are embarrassing," he broke in at one point as a reporter apologized for a ticklish question about whether Eisenhower might resign—which would mean Nixon would become President.

And he ping-ponged answers back at his 100 or so questioners for 45 minutes, oblivious of the profuse sweat which dribbled down his heavy black beard in the glare of hot movie and television lights.

He had carefully tended to that beard, shaving it close before his meeting with the newsmen and their cameras. It wasn't long before he disclosed that fact to a cameraman who joked that he had missed his daily bout with the razor and "my beard is almost as heavy as yours, Mr. Vice President."

"But I shaved this afternoon," Nixon protested.

Nixon, chatting with reporters later, noted his participation the day before in a White House conference which decided to develop the Thor and Jupiter medium range (1,500 miles) missiles simultaneously.

"You know," he said musingly, "five years ago I wouldn't have been in on a conference such as that. Now I am—not because I have additional duties but because in the interim I have been working on the programs that came up for decision, such as foreign aid and foreign policy."

Well, shouldn't his powers be broadened, perhaps through legislation?

"No, not legally," he replied. "The job changes. It just happens that these things were coming to a head. That's why I could play my part."

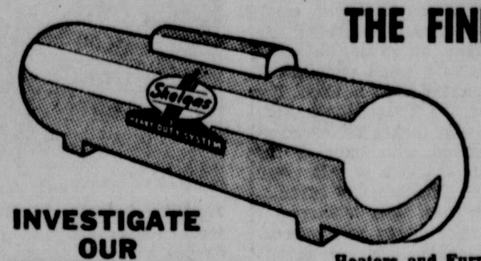

Real Family Affair

MARRIOTT, Utah (AP)—When J. Lawrence Slater sits down to his Thanksgiving dinner today, he expects to have 76 other people sharing his table.

Most are members of his family — 9 of his 11 children, 40 of his 54 grandchildren, and 11 great grandchildren.

Among the special guests are Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Budge. The doctor has delivered 38 of Slater's grandchildren and two of his great grandchildren.

Stars Begin To Bark Back In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A new kind of star is rising in Hollywood—the independent cuss who barks back at the studios yet lacks publicity flair.

A case study is Paul Newman, handsome, brooding-lipped young actor who typifies the new breed. There have been others like him—Marlon Brando, James Dean, Tony Franciosa, John Cassavetes, Ben Gazzara, etc.

All were trained in New York, many at the Actor's Studio. Each has been as independent as a hog on ice. And though they have made the news on occasion, they shun the publicity mills of Hollywood.

Newman differs from the others in that he is signed up exclusively to a studio — Warner Brothers. How come?

"Panic, I guess," he said. "You keep passing up opportunities until finally you worry that it might be the last time you're offered one. I didn't want to sign, because I figured I wasn't ready for it yet. 'The Silver Chalice' proved that I was right."

Despite his nosedive in that religious mishmash, he went back to Broadway for some seasoning in "The Desperate Hours," then returned to score a smash on a loanout to MGM in "Somebody Up There Likes Me." Warners discovered it had a star on its hands.

Warners also found Newman to be a problem. The guy just wouldn't do what he was told. He has turned down three big productions which most newcomers would be delighted with. How does he get away with it?

"I just tell J. L. Warner I can't believe in the roles," he said. "So far, I've gotten away without a suspension. On the other hand, there are roles on the outside that I haven't been able to do. He has a great way of winning arguments. He just orders me out of his office."

Newman has methods of winning his own way. He agreed to do "The Helen Morgan Story," which he wasn't too hot for, in order to do an outside picture, "The Long, Hot Summer."

The actor declared that such studio battles are mistakenly attributed to temperament. He said it's merely a matter of a man sticking up for his rights.

British TV Places Claim To Westerns

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Can you think of a more typically American entertainment product than the Western? Well——

"The Western is accepted in Britain as a proprietary item as much as in the United States," says Dennis Foreman, executive producer of the Grenada-TV network of Manchester, Enland.

"This may be appropriation of other people's goods, of course, but we feel that the Western has a natural, important place in our entertainment lives. This has been going on for years in Britain.

"Why, until 'Robin Hood' came on television in Britain most children were more familiar with Dodge City than Sherwood Forest."

Foreman is in this country looking over Western TV shows. Wyatt Earp, seen on ABC-TV in this country, has proved to be a great hit in Britain. So, too, is Gunsmoke, seen on CBS-TV here, though — for some reason that Foreman doesn't understand—it's called Gunlaw in England.

British television has a legal limit on the number of American TV programs it can buy and show. If, for example, all the Westerns now showing here were purchased in Britain, the full allotment would be exhausted, Foreman said.

So he wonders if it's possible that the English may try to make some Westerns of their own. Believe it or not, some Westerns were filmed in England and France after World War I. They were pretty bad, Foreman said, but they were Westerns.

He thinks it more likely, however, that British companies might film some TV Westerns in Canada—where there are wide open plains and plenty of cow country.

Head Hunters Necessary Risk

Three Men To Try Horseback Ride Across Two Continents

By GENE HANDSAKER

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—Three men will set out Sunday on a 7,000-mile horseback ride from the lowest point on the North American continent to the highest point in South America.

If they survive head hunters, man-eating pigs, boa constrictors, saddle sores and dysentery, it will take them from 282 feet below sea level to 23,035 above.

The low starting point is Bad Water, Death Valley, Calif., 160 miles northeast of here. They expect it will take 18 months to reach their destination: Mt. Aconcagua, Argentina.

Why should a carpenter, a boat dealer and an ex-cop set out on such a wearying and dangerous journey:

"It's been a lifelong dream of mine to take some long, adventurous ride," says Loren Lee Upton, 22-year-old carpenter.

The expedition's organizer and leader, 6-foot-4 Loren says he knows of only one other horseback ride even remotely like it. A Swiss schoolteacher rode from Buenos Aires to Washington for President Hoover's inauguration, Loren says "but he took a boat part way." Loren and his companions say they'll plod every foot—even over a footpath across the Panama Canal.

Goal in mind, Loren interviewed about 80 potential co-adventurers. Each of the two he picked would have to put up $3,200 as his share of expenses.

Ed Baillie, 34, owner of a camera store in nearby Colton, heard of Loren's plans. "Have you ever lived outdoors?" Loren asked.

"Nine years in the Army, four years overseas," Ed replied. "I've hunted in Alaska, Greenland and Canada. I'm an expert with a gun—was a Colton police officer for five years."

Ed says now: "In three weeks my wife realized I wasn't joking about this trip. I even talked about it in my sleep. She said, 'O.K.' "

Ed sold his camera store to provide for her and their five children during his absence. Charlotte Baillie, who'll resume her job as a grocerystore checker, says: "I'm only sorry I can't go along."

As the expedition's photographer Ed will send back 16mm. movies which the horsemen hope will make either a TV series or a feature-length picture.

Kyle Pratt, 40, was lukewarm when Loren first approached him, then decided he'd like to revisit South America. Out of the Air Force 10 years ago, he took a panel-truck trip there with two buddies. With two other buddies he flew home in a war surplus plane. For snapping pictures, forbidden then in Peron-ruled Argentina, they were detained six weeks.

On that trip he sent his mother 60-page letters. Now he'll be interpreter, guide and journalist. The travelers hope his daily logs, aired home, will sell to magazines.

Kyle, a widower, has taken in a partner to run his boat business in nearby Loma Linda.

The six horses are trail-steeled pack steeds from California High Sierra country. The travelers say they'll probably sell them in Argentina. An airline has offered to fly the men home.

Hazards ahead include head-hunting tribes in lower Panama and Colombia. The horsemen will have trinkets for them—also pistols that fire 20-second flares and might scare off jungle night aggressors. "It may sound silly, but such things have saved people's lives," Loren says.

There will be herd of peccaries, piglike mammals that attack men . . . 30-foot Anaconda constrictors that hang from trees and can crush a man's head or back with a hammer blow of their heads.

"We wouldn't think much of this trip if we didn't have a little hazard," Ed says. Each man carries a pistol and a rifle.

Equipment includes two pressure cookers to kill dysentery-causing amoebae . . . a canvas and stakes to shelter 3 bed rolls side by side . . . snake, penicillin and water-purifying pills . . . a direction-finding radio receiver.

Sights ahead include Mayan ruins and, Kyle says "a canyon they claim you could put the Grand Canyon inside," in South Sonora, Mexico.

Rancehr Quits Job; He's Slightly Old

SUNOL, Calif. (AP)—Tom Wauhab, a rancher, quit his job of hiking and riding through 11 miles of rugged country to check precipitation because it's gettting to be "a little too much."

Wauhab, still an active cowhand on the Alameda County ranch of his son, Tom Jr., informed the San Francisco Water Dept. yesterday he'd had enough.

He Loses Overalls But Saves His Skin

MATADOR, Tex. (AP)—A stiff north wind whipped a loose tip of farmer E. D. Lawrence's overalls into a combine drive shaft yesterday.

Lawrence, 68, struggled to jerk free. But the combine pulled off both his boots, snatched away his overalls, wound away most of his long underwear and scraped the skin off both legs.

A final tremendous wrench left him standing in the remains of his shirt.

Happily he found another grainfield worker nearby who was wearing two pairs of overalls. Lawrence borrowed one pair, went home for lunch, and returned to running his combine in the afternoon.

Courage And Faith

By JAMES CROSSLEY

Though ominous clouds hover, there is still much to be thankful for this Thanksgiving.

Life, for an individual and for a nation, is never without its threats. The times of peace and plenty are still fraught with a solid undercurrent of concern.

We must bow our heads this Thanksgiving and give thanks that there is yet a measure of peace even though our nation seems beset by jealous and irresponsible rivals.

Many men are still free in this world of ours and those who love liberty were never banded more closely together to defend it if necessary. Among the nations of the world we have powerful and resolute friends.

Never in history has there been a world leader such as our nation, so rich and generous, with principles which extend down to the bedrock of Christianity and the orderly process of law.

Though we feel buffeted and endangered, we must never lose sight of our own stature in the eyes of history. This, too, should be a part of our prayer for thanks.

The Pilgrims had every reason to despair in the months which preceded the first Thanksgiving. In a strange and frightening land, the little band was in no condition to defend itself successfully agaist the savages of the forests whom they greatly feared.

Of the 104 passengers who arrived on the Mayflower, there were only 50 remaining. Of these, at the point of lowest ebb, there were only six or seven in sound condition.

It was six months after they arrived that they came face to face with an Indian, though they had seen them lurking about in the forests.

Fittingly, it was just at a time when Capt. Miles Standish was presiding at a meeting about problems of defense, that the climax of the Indian threat came to a head.

An alarm was sounded. A lone Indian was strolling boldly down the main street of Plymouth.

The meeting broke up in confusion as the Indian confronted the settlers.

And to their amazement he spoke to them in English, saying, "Welcome."

This is how they met Samoset who made them friendly with Massasoit. The encounter led to 50 years of peace with the surrounding tribes.

Alone, so far from home, the Pilgrims had only one course in those early months. They could only muster their own defenses, hold on to their courage and put their trust in Divine Providence. The lot of any body of men embarked on idealistic pursuits has always been the same.

America today should give thanks that so many tortuous, dangerous paths have been successfully traversed in the past and pray that we may have the stalwart fortitude for the years to come which the Pilgrims demonstrated.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Sugarcoat Treatment of Defense Facts

By DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson today continues his penetrating diagnosis of Washington defenses and our lag on missiles and satellites.)

WASHINGTON—The secret report on American defenses, parts of which have leaked to the press, is far more alarming than the leaks indicate. One clue to its alarming content is the fact that the White House wanted only two copies—the original and one carbon—made. It did not want other copies in existence which might show Congress how weak our defenses are.

For the depressing, inescapable deductions from this report are that the United States today has become a second-class power.

In brief, Russia could launch war on us at any time with almost certain odds of turning the United States into a socialist, satellite, subject nation.

This is no pleasant news to publish at the Thanksgiving season. However, the United States has come through some rough times in the past, dating back to the grim, bleak winters when the Pilgrim fathers battled famine, cold, and Indians. And if the American people really understand the unadulterated, unsugarcoated truth regarding what faces them today, I am confident they will be equal to the occasion.

But they have to know the facts.

Truth Was Suppressed

The secret report which has caused such worried reverberations in high administration circles was prepared by members of the "Arden Farms" study group, a body of top businessmen, scientists, and economists in New York who began making studies in government when Eisenhower was president of Columbia University. Over 100 of them worked on this report for the Office of Defense Administration, and it is actually a composite document which goes into many different facets of our defense.

Real fact is that the report should send no tremors of alarm through the administration, because all the facts in it were known not only to the Pentagon, but to newsmen who took the trouble to dig into the defense picture. If the facts were not known to the White House, then it was because the White House was not sufficiently interested.

The secret report warns:

That Russia is ahead of us in all phases of modern warfare except atomic submarines;

That our forward Strategic Air Command bases could be knocked out by Russian missiles;

That the United States could be devastated by a mass Soviet attack;

That we would be lucky to destroy five or six Soviet cities in retaliation.

No Food After 20 Days

Further depressing facts include:

The United States would have food for only 20 days in case of Russian mass attack, because food is located in the great grain elevators and warehouses of the big cities. These cities would be wiped out first.

With strict rationing, the American people could get by on a low, 1,800-calorie subsistence diet. But no rationing cards have been printed, and it would take four months in time of war to print them. The war might be over before then

Most shocking revelation is that which shows our much-publicized forward SAC bases to be another "Maginot Line." Actually this is no revelation at all. Top officials have known for months that these Strategic Air Command bases in Turkey, Japan, most of Europe, were just as impotent as the huge wall of steel and concrete, the Maginot Line, behind which France basked in self-satisfied complacency prior to Hitler's attack.

However, the administration has deliberately gone out of its way to fool the public regarding the defense picture.

Substitute Nose Cone

When the President went on the air with his first "chins-up" telecast, he dramatically exhibited the nose cone of a Jupiter rocket, which he said had returned to the earth, thereby solving the question of re-entry through the amosphere.

The Air Force scientific brain center in California, Ramo-Wooldridge, has now written a report branding this a hoax.

The nose cone which ike showed on television, according to the Air Force report, was not a test of re-entry at all. For this particular nose cone, the Air Force memo says, re-entered the atmosphere at a cockeyed angle which slowed it down; also rotated, which slowed it even more. Thus it landed at less than one-third the speed of a normal ballistic missile.

The test, therefore, concluded the Ramo-Wooldridge memo, was of "negligible" value. Yet the President demonstrated the nose cone to the American public as a proof that it had solved the re-entry problem.

All the above facts were known to the Defense Department at the time the missile was sent to the White House for the President's telecast. The question of whether Ike should show the nose cone was debated back and forth in advance at the Pentagon.

It was finally argued that, though this particular nose cone was not a test, another Jupiter nose cone had been witnessed coming down, although it was not recovered. Therefore, it would not be deceiving the public, officials felt, if a substitute nose cone was used.

Actually, the presentation of a nose cone as a brand-new triumphant achievement was deceptive in the first place. For last May, an experimental X-17 3-stage rocket was fired 650 miles straight up at Patrick Air Force Base, Fla., and the nose cone recovered intact.

These are some of the problems a confused public faces in trying to figure out just where we stand and why publication of the secret report on USA vs. USSR military strength is so important.

Think It Through

THANKS EXPRESSED IN DEEDS—As a people, how grateful we should be—day by day—for the harvest reaped from the seeds of our Free Enterprise System, the Declaration of Independence, and our Constitution with its Bill of Rights. These great documents have secured to us freedom of worship; freedom of speech; a free press; the right to own property; to be free and not slave; the right to select one's own road and choose his own speed.

We are told that when John Hancock signed the Declaration of Independence, he did so in large, strong hand; then, rising from his seat, said: "There, John Bull can read my name without spectacles, and may now double his reward of 500 pounds for my head." It can be assumed that this was the price placed on the heads of all the signers—delivered dead or alive.

Such was their vision of freedom. Such was the faith, courage and fortitude of those self-forgetful patriots whose spiritual thinking and inspired action gave hope to all tomorrows—a future rooted in the basic principles embodied in these immortal documents—our title deed to freedom.

Yes, our forefathers "built better than they knew." Our republican form of government with its democratic basis of society, is the most successful in the history of the world.

Neighbor, let's keep it that way. If we dont', what have we left?

One Way to Get 'Em

In the nature of things, getting conclusive evidence against racketeers, extortionists and assorted financial finaglers is often a tough job.

The biggest problem is to find witnesses willing to testify against the alleged offenders. Violence or the threat of violence serves to silence most.

This possibly helps to explain why, when all else seems to fail, the U. S. Internal Revenue Service frequently turns out to be the agency which nails the elusive offenders.

All citizens, whatever their source of income, must file income tax returns. And Internal Revenue has a devastating way of zeroing-in on those who try to conceal income from the government. Finaglers often attempt it, usually to their sorrow.

Thus the bureau has for the second time in recent months lowered the tax books on Dave Beck, retiring Teamsters union president charged by a Senate committee with many financial irregularities.

A federal grand jury not long back indicted Beck for allegedly evading $56,000 in taxes due for 1950. New indictments add $184,000 to the pile, this latest sum said to be due for the years 1951 through 1953.

Though they may grumble each April 15, ordinary taxpayers may be happy to know that Internal Revenue is around to bird-dog certain citizens who seem to be above everything but the tax laws.

The World Today

Ike Has Probably Considered Resigning

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Men around President Eisenhower have sought to give his illness a sunny look—and brushed aside any idea he might resign. But he himself has probably considered it, whether or not he's rejected it.

This country's problems—and those of the world—are more critical now than at any time of Eisenhower's two previous major illnesses: the heart attack in 1955 and the intestinal operation in 1956.

In the weeks and years ahead this country will need the most competent and active leadership it can get. Eisenhower already has shown himself sensitive to the problems of an ill president and the need for one able to do his job.

After his heart attack and his operation, he said that if he ever felt he couldn't carry out his duties, he would tell the public. So the problem of his own ability to fulfill his job has been high in his consciousness.

He has been less active—as he said he would be before last year's election—since the two previous illnesses. Just how much his latest seizure cuts down on his activity and ability remain to be seen.

Both Eisenhower's press secretary, James Hagerty, and Vice President Nixon, who would become president if Eisenhower quit have attempted to inject an optimistic note into the mild stroke he suffered this week.

Although London newspapers predicted Eisenhower would quit, very little of that talk has been raised in this country. But Hagerty and Nixon both discounted any thought of Eisenhower's resigning. Hagerty called it laughable.

Although the stroke impaired Eisenhower's ability to use or find certain words—a condition his doctors said is clearing up—Hagerty said the President was amused by his difficulty.

Nixon, in his desire to picture Eisenhower as full of vitality, went so far Wednesday night as to picture him as a "caged lion" in his eagerness to get to his job. His doctors said he'll have to reduce his activity substantially for some weeks.

When Eisenhower suffered his heart attack in September 1955, Congress had gone home, the world was fairly calm, this country appeared in no danger, and Eisenhower with the help of his aides had three months to get ready for the next Congress.

When he had his intestinal operation in June 1956, the world was still calm, Eisenhower's major problems with Congress were pretty well finished, and Congress itself was anxious to get home for the 1956 elections.

Eisenhower's main problem at that time was to get back into shape for the election campaign.

But this week's mild stroke hit Eisenhower just after Russian missile and satellite developments pointed up a need for the ablest direction to help this country catch up with the Soviets.

At the same time, Eisenhower was preparing to go to Paris for a conference with allies who not only were badly split but had suddenly been forced to wonder about this country's leadership after the shock administered by the Russian Sputniks.

In addition now, when he must reduce his activity, he has only a month in which to get ready for Congress, which returns in January. That means preparing his budget and organizing his ideas on the various programs, including defense, which he'll have to lay before Congress in 1958.

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Fire of undetermined origin practically destroyed the residence of W .C. Cramer, 1307 East Seventh, Sunday morning. Damage of about $200 resulted to the residence of R. Gordon, 1306 East Seventh, and about $100 to the home of H. H. Brower.

1932

Dr. J. E. Cannaday gave a prohibition talk before members of Rotary at the club's noonday luncheon. Arthur Hoffman, chairman of the program committee, was in charge.

1932

Frank T. Anderson, contractor, died at his home, 624 East 11th, Sunday, Nov. 27.

1932

Prof. C. C. Hubbard, principal of Lincoln School, called a meeting held at the school library to perfect plans for Negro participation in the unemployment drive for funds. Charles O. Botz, president o the Chamber of Commerce, spoke on great need for the campaign.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Courtney Shoe Store on South Ohio was entered by thieves and four pairs of shoes of large size were stolen. The Kleinstein bakery, 1106 East Third, was also burglarized, a quantity of tobacco being stolen.

1917

A large number of baskets of food were sent out through the Associated Charities Board for Thanksgiving dinners for the needy. The Salvation Army distributed 15 well-filled baskets of food to worthy families.

1917

The Rev. J. D. Prigmore, in the YMCA war camp at Camp Funston, Kan., arrived home to spend Thanksgiving with his family.

1917

John E. Tiedeman, formerly a business manager for the Sedalia Sentinel, went to the training camp at Ft. Sheridan, Ill., from St. Louis, receiving a commission as second lieutenant in the infantry.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Is today "Turkey Day" or "Bowl Day," or some other nick-named day? No! Today is Thanksgiving. We may enjoy some turkey or a football game or some other event, but the day has a more important significance.

Our first responsibility is to give thanks to the Provider of the harvest, the Protector of life and the Creator of man. This day is set aside as a day without normal work to honor Him who has brought us through the hardships of yesterday, provided us with food for today and tomorrow, and who promises us life abundant in the future.

Whatever your plans for the day, do not forget to bow your heads in honest and complete thanks for all that has been bestowed upon you and upon our fellow men. Pray also for the peace of the world and for man to be worthy of God's continued benevolence.

That awful feeling comes from getting halfway through an argument and then realizing the other fellow is right. ©NEA

Study of the Soviet Schools Shows 'Subsidized' Education

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The new, sputnik-inspired interest in doing something to promote increased education of scientists and engineers in the United States—instead of just talking about it—is reduced eventually to questions of statisics and money.

The big pitch now is that it's going to take many millions of dollars to build some college and laboratory facilities and to pay professors higher salaries.

But the U.S. Office of Education study on Soviet Russia's school system shows plainly that the United States is now spending a lot more for higher education than the U.S.S.R. Also, the U.S. has more colleges and more students enrolled.

Whatever is wrong with U.S. colleges is something else.

The U.S. has 1,900 accredited colleges and universities awarding degrees. Over 3,000,000 students are enrolled in these institutions, or about 25 per cent of all college-age youngsters.

Russia has only 765 colleges and universities with a full-time enrollment of under 1,300,000 and a part-time enrollment of 600,000. This is about 10 per cent of college age youth.

Over 354,000 degrees were granted in the U.S. last year. Russia has no comparable degree system but statistical reports indicate 225,000 graduations a year—175,000 for full-time students, 50,000 for part-time and correspondence course graduates.

Total federal state, local and private expenditures for all education in the U.S., with 170 million population, is estimated at 15.5 billion dollars.

The total planned educational budget for the Soviet Union with a population of 200 million is put at 68.4 billion rubles. At six rubles to the dollar, instead of the official four-ruble rate, this would be the equivalent of 11.6 billion dollars. There is no check on how much of this planned budget is actually spent and what for.

From these simple comparisons it is obvious that the U.S. higher education system is far larger and has much better potentialities than that of the U.S.S.R. Organization and emphasis on what are considered the most important educational goals may therefore be responsible for achieving Soviet results. Here are a few factors to consider in this connection:

Students in Russian institutions of higher learning are paid a stipend—wage, in Americano—for attending college.

According to "Soviet Professional Manpower," by Nicholas DeWitt of the U.S. Office of Education, this wage is from 2,000 to 3,000 rubles, or $660 to $1,000 a year.

This is from a half to two-thirds of what the average Russian worker is paid. It is more than enough to pay the Russian student's board and lodging. Exceptional students who make high grades may get from 25 to 50 per cent more.

There is no college tuition. All a student has to do to get in is pass a stiff entrance exam. If he can't pass at age 18, he has to register for the draft. If he flunks his courses after he does get in, his stipend stops and out he goes on his ear to the army, the salt mines of Siberia or wherever they want to send him.

This is admittedly a good incentive to make college students study. But could it be introduced in the U.S.A.?

DeWitt estimates that from 70 to 75 per cent of the Russian students receive his stipend. The Russians claim the figure is higher—85 to 90 per cent. The total budgeted outlay for these student wages in 1953-54 was just under six billion rubles, or about a billion dollars.

Now this is admittdely subsidizing higher education in a great big way. Introduction of such a system in this country would probably meet violent opposition from the heads of privately endowed colleges and universities. But it gives the congressional advocates of legislation for federal scholarships for exceptional students a strong talking point.

Still another argument in favor of these scholarships is that the cost of college and university education in the U.S. is now so high that many families can't afford it.

Another new U.S. Office of Education study on the costs of attending college in this country puts the average at from $1,500 to $2,000 a year, with a maximum of $5,000. This is from two to five times the average Russian student's stipend.

Odds and Ends By News Staff

ALL THIS TALK about the satellite confused Virgil, who is in the second grade at school, but it sounded pretty wonderful so he went home to tell his family all about it.

"Silent Night," he said, "is going around the world."

For a time his parents didn't know what he meant until he went on to explain that they thought it was going to land in a desert.

Well, Virgil wasn't too far wrong at that. With the coming of the Christmas season "Silent Night" will be going around the world, as fast and as sure as the satellite, but it will not be coming from Russia, it will be coming from America and all the Christian countries. It might be well if it landed, too, not in a desert but in the heart of Russia.—H.L.

Rising Temperatures Highlight Thanksgiving Day Weather Picture

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Rising temperatures in chilly areas highlighted the Thanksgiving Day weather picture in the Eastern portion of the nation, but drizzle, snow, rain and cold marred the holiday in various other spots.

From an area extending from the southern tip of Lake Michigan to the central Gulf States eastward to the Atlantic Seaboard, temperatures climbed from bone-chilling lows to relative mildness. The Northeast showed the biggest climb with readings more than 20 degrees above those registered 24 hours earlier. The rises from Lake Michigan to the Gulf ranged from 10 to 15 detrees. Syracuse, N.Y., went from 15 to 48 in a 24-hour period.

At the other extreme, the mercury sank 42 degrees at Fraser, Colo., a Rocky Mountain cold spot, where a low of -12 was recorded.

Fire Damages Toy Firm in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin caused an estimated $30,000 damage at a Kansas City wholesale toy firm last night.

Firemen fought the blaze 1½ hours before bringing it under control.

The blaze spread from a one-story stock section to a two-story office section at the front of the structure housing U. S. Toy Co., Inc.

Two firemen were hospitalized for minor injuries.

Giant long-range radar antenna like this must be installed, at great expense in time and money, throughout the trans-Canada warning system if Russian ICBM's are to be detected. This radar is at the Lincoln Laboratory of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Westford, Mass.

Boy Accidentally Hangs

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — Four-year-old Gary Lee Wilkinson accidentally hanged himself while playing with a neighbor in his home yesterday.

Authorities said the victim caught his neck in a loop of twine he fastened over a rafter when he apparently slipped from a wastebasket on which he was standing.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Park Wilkinson, survive.

NATO Will Proceed With Summit Meeting

Permanent Council Agrees on Following Original Schedule

PARIS (AP) — Paul-Henri Spaak, secretary - general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, today announced that the summit meeting of NATO's chiefs of government would go ahead as planned despite the illness of President Eisenhower.

A communique issued after a meeting of the permanent NATO Council said the group had "learned with satisfaction" that Vice President Nixon will head the American delegation for the meeting.

A member of the U.S. delegation to NATO said Wednesday Nixon had been proposed to the members as a substitute for Eisenhower. But Nixon said later in Washington that the statement "was not made at any direction from the White House."

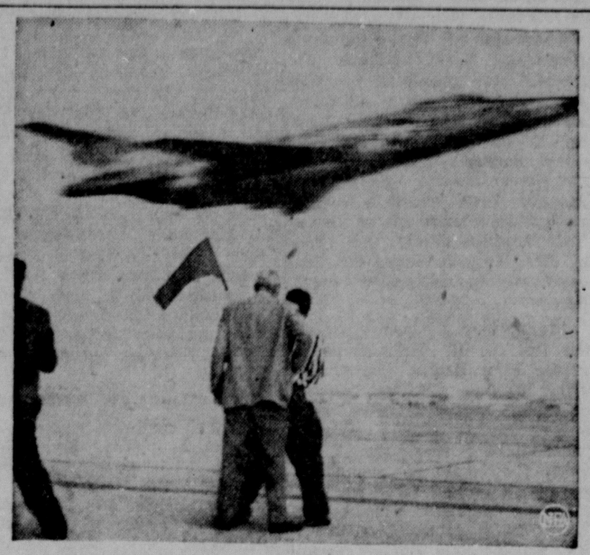

The communique issued by Spaak said: "The North Atlantic Council, having learned with regret that President Eisenhower will be prevented from attending the NATO Council meeting in December, decided that the meeting should take place at the level originally planned."

The possibility that Eisenhower would be able to attend the Dec. 16-18 talks was not ruled out in Washington. James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, and State Department press officer Lincoln White both said Eisenhower himself will decide on U.S. representation.

It was learned after the Council meeting that some delegates expressed reservations about holding the summit talk as planned. They apparently feared that they might not obtain their original objectives without the presence of Eisenhower.

The final decision was unanimous, however. The subject took

Britain Announces It Is Closing Down Hong Kong Dockyards

LONDON (AP)—Britain announced today it is closing down the royal naval dockyards in the crown colony of Hong Kong.

Lord Mancroft, minister without portfolio, told the House of Lords that the shutdown will require two years and will be concluded by Nov. 30, 1959.

The decision to shut down the naval yards on the China coast "has been necessitated by the current reorganization of naval forces and their shore support throughout the world in the light of the government policy in the defense white paper," Mancroft said.

The white paper outlined the way Britain was changing its defenses to meet the nuclear age. It reported Britain would cut down on its overseas commitments.

Britain still will hold its vital naval base in Singapore. A number of warships based on Hong Kong will protect British shipping and help maintain the security of the colony.

In the sheltered Hong Kong port Britain plans to keep a small naval base from which ships can be serviced and operated.

Unmasked Men Hold Up Brown Station

They Escape With $109 From Desk Wednesday Night

Two unmasked holdup men walked into the Jerry Brown Service Station on Highway 50, one mile east of Sedalia and conducted a holdup which netted them $109.64. The robbery took place about 10:18 p.m. Wednesday night.

David Crockett Glass, 47, Route 1, Smithton, the attendant at the station, said he was alone in the office when one man walked in and asked if he had any Cokes. Seconds later the second man walked in flourishing a sawed off shotgun and demanded the money, he said.

Glass told officers he remarked to the men, "You're kidding aren't you?" whereupon the man with the gun promptly said "No," then "We want your money."

"I unlocked the drawer in the desk and they took all of the paper money and I believe some change," Glass said.

According to Glass, the men were driving an old model automobile and came into the station from the east and past the station building to the west where they parked. The first man preceded the second by about a minute, according to Glass.

He described the first man as being about 6 feet 2 inches tall, 190 pounds, blonde, and about 40 years old. The second man was about 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighed about 160 pounds, and between 40 and 45 years old. Both were wearing old overalls, one with a zipper jacket, and both wore caps.

After they obtained the money they returned to their car and headed west on Highway 50, Glass said.

The call to the Sedalia police was made and reported as Brown's west station, which caused a delay of several minutes of the officers getting to the proper station, all going west.

It is the third time holdup men have visited Jerry Brown service stations since Sunday morning, Nov. 3, and the fifth holdup in the

Man Gets Concession To Explore for Oil

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—The government today granted a concession to Guatemala oilman Jorge Zemeri to explore for oil over two-thirds of Jordan's territory.

Earlier this year a large oil concession was granted American oil man Edwin Pauley. Pauley's company has begun drilling about 30 miles east of Amman.

Morocco King Paysa Visit To Virginia

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—King Mohammed V of Morocco came to Virginia today for a day of sightseeing in the historic Williamsburg-Jamestown area.

A special Air Force Constellation brought the King here from Washington on the first leg of a 16-day cross country tour.

The King's party of 17 top-rank Moroccan government officials accompanied him.

Nixon told the 48-year-old Moroccan ruler at National Airport that his stay had further strengthened the historic ties of friendship between Morocco and the United States.

As a personal note, Nixon presented the King with a doll, a gift from the vice president's daughter, Amina, who is in Rabat.

Aides reported Mohammed was immensely pleased at the results of his two lengthy foreign policy talks with Secretary of State Dulles who served as last-minute replacement for the ailing President Eisenhower.

Mohammed also had a brief visit with Eisenhower Wednesday afternoon.

After the final Mohammed-Dulles talk, a joint statement was issued.

The statement covering the U. S.—Moroccan talks said Mohammed expressed hope that friendly negotiations will settle the battle

Crown Prince Gives Order, Says Spanish Forces Are Attacking

RABAT, MOROCCO (AP)— Crown Prince Moulay Hassan charged today that Spanish forces had launched attacks against Moroccan territory from the tiny colony of Ifni and announced he had given orders to the royal army to fight back.

An earlier report by the Moroccan Nationalist newspaper Al Alam said Spaniards in Ifni had started an all-out attack against rebels in Ifni early today, and were bombing Moroccan villages. The paper said Moroccan anti-aircraft guns already had fired on some of the planes.

The crown prince, in a radio statement broadcast, said that "following Spanish incursions on Moroccan territory" he had given orders to the royal army to fire at any foreign plane over Morocco whose mission was believed to be hostile.

The prince has sent one of his top aides, Col. Moulay Hafid, to the United States to confer with King Mohammed V who is on a visit there. Reports from Washington said the colonel was expected to see the King in Dallas Friday.

Moulay Hassan said Morocco had been surprised by the rebellion which broke out in the 781-square-mile colony on the Atlantic Coast last Saturday.

But he said South Morocco, still under a Spanish protectorate, was of great "economic and strategic importance" because "it is our door opened on the Sahara." South Morocco is south of Ifni.

Al Alam said the Spanish attack was designed to recover positions lost to the rebels.

Spain has rejected formal Moroccan requests for the colony to be turned over to the Rabat government.

The colony is surrounded on three sides by Morocco but Spain claims the Moroccan government has never been able to establish its authority in the surrounding area.

The local units of the Moroccan liberation army, a guerilla outfit which helped win Moroccan independence, have never been brought fully under Rabat's command. The Spaniards allege that some of these units are involved in the fighting.

Britain Agrees No Arms Shipped Without Talks

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan said today Britain would make no new deliveries of arms to Tunisia without continued consultation with France.

The British leader, reporting to Parliament on his conference with French Premier Felix Gaillard earlier this week, emphasized however, he has not surrendered Britain's right to send further supplies of weapons to the young North African state.

Despite French protests, some U. S. and British machine guns, rifles and ammunition were flown to Tunisia two weeks ago. The French feared the arms would reach rebels fighting them in Algeria.

On the question of a possible East-West summit meeting, Macmillan told the House of Commons the West was willing to employ any means "to try to reduce tension."

Soviet Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev has suggesetd a renewal of talks by the top leaders of the major powers.

Eisenhower Attends Church Service Thanksgiving Day

Well-Wishers Are Delighted At Show of Rapid Recovery

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower went to Thanksgiving services today, and was cheered and whistled by well-wishers delighted at this show of his rapid snap back from Monday's mild stroke.

Eisenhower smiled and nodded in response. Newsmen who see the President often could detect evidence of his illness. His color was good—perhaps a little less ruddy than usual.

Eisenhower's decision to go to church apparently was a sudden one. Reporters at the White House got no word of it until the moment he and Mrs. Eisenhower were slipping out a side door and into a waiting limousine.

So far as has been disclosed, it was the first time he had left his second floor White House living quarters since he was stricken Monday by what physicians diagnosed as an occlusion, or blockage, of a small brain artery.

The White House said Eisenhower's recovery had been so rapid that he might yet go to the Paris meeting Dec. 16 of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies.

With the absence of advance notice of the church visit, only a few people were at the National Presbyterian Church when the President and Mrs. Eisenhower arrived.

One of these called, "Happy Thanksgiving to you, Mr. President."

"Thank you," Eisenhower replied and went inside.

The Rev. Dr. Edward L. R. Elson, pastor of the church, offered a special prayer for Eisenhower's future well-being.

The President sat quietly throughout the service, and seemed to be listening very intently to the pastor's sermon. He also participated in the hymn singing, arising with the rest of the congregation.

By the time the service was over, a crowd of 300 to 400 persons had gathered outside the church and burst into applause as the President and the First Lady started down the steps to their waiting limousine.

As the applause broke, a smile spread over the President's face. He was bundled in a heavy navy blue overcoat and wore a light gray hat.

Manager Issues Reminder

Dial Telephones Here Will Begin on Sunday

Local and long distance dialing will begin for Sedalia telephone subscribers at 1:01 a.m. Sunday, N. B. Pitcairn, manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., reminded all customers here today.

"We've completed installation of the dial equipment," Pitcairn said, "and all that remains is to pull the switches to start dial service for Sedalia."

Pitcairn emphasized the importance of remembering to dial the new two-letter, five-figure "TAylor 6" and "TAylor 7" numbers after the conversion is made. The company has distributed new directories, listing the "2-5" numbers.

"The 'TAylor 6' and 'TAylor 7' telephone numbers will probably be unfamiliar for a while," Pitcairn said. "We recommend that subscribers refer to their new directories before making a call until they get used to the numbers. This would be a good time to bring any lists of frequently called numbers up to date, too."

At the same time local dialing goes into operation, Direct Distance Dialing, the service that enables one and two-party non-coin subscribers to dial many of their own long distance calls, begins. Customers who will be able to use Direct Distance Dialing received a special directory this week, listing the towns they can dial and explaining how to use the service.

Sedalian Hurt As Jack Slips From Truck

M. Ellis Green, 59, 614 East 14th, was seriously injured about 9:50 a.m. Thursday when a truck fell from a jack while he was working beneath it. The accident occurred at Green's Automotive Service Garage, 207 South Osage.

Green recently purchased the pickup and had it in his garage to make some necessary repairs on it. He had jacked the front end of the vehicle up and was beneath the truck on a creeper, starting to remove the pan.

Robert "Bob" Beaman, 1825 South Beacon, a mechanic, had just walked into the garage and around the truck when the jack slipped from the wide bumper and fell. Beaman started to get a jack and jack the car up again when Green rolled out from beneath it and asked him to call a doctor.

Beaman called the Gillespie ambulance and sent Green to Bothwell Hospital, where Dr. John B. Carlisle rendered medical treatment and had X-rays taken of his head. The X-rays revealed fractures of the skull on both sides and across the top.

Relating the accident, Beaman

Bodies of Air Force Officers Are Found In Wreckage of Jet

MARGARETVILL, N. Y., (AP) — The bodies of two Air Force officers were found today in the wreckage of their crashed jet on Panther Mountain.

Searching parties climbed over rugged terrain to reach the bodies shortly afternoon.

Six Injured, 2 Critically, In Car Wreck

Two Children Hurt In Collision At US 50-135 Junction

A three-car collision at the junction of U. S. Highway 50 and State Highway 135, two miles west of Otterville, resulted in the family of four being injured along with two other persons. Two of the six are in critical condition at the Bothwell Hospital. The accident occurred about 3:05 p. m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Shirley White, 20, wife of Van M. White, 22, 710 Wilkerson, Sedalia, is in critical condition from a possible fracture of the neck, fractured right thigh, fractured left ankle, and severe lacerations about her head and legs.

Her husband is less hurt, suffering from a laceration on the face, mouth injury, and contusion of the chest.

Their two daughters, Cynthia Lynn, 2, received a severe laceration in the center of her forehead and a fracture of the left arm at the elbow. Tonya Ann, age one, received severe lacerations on the right side of her head, but she apparently escaped any fractures.

The driver of one car, Dennis Gene Leonard, 22, a service station attendant at California, and whose home is reported as Centertown, Mo., is in critical condition. Leonard suffered a partially collapsed right lung and a contusion of the right lung. He received minor cuts and bruises.

Richard McCormack, 23, a student in the Rolla School of Mines, driver of the third car, escaped any injuries, but his wife, Sandra McCormack, 20, received a contusion of the forehead, and bruises. She was examined, but not admitted to the hospital.

The injured were all taken to the hospital in two ambulances sent by Gillespie's. At the hospital Mrs. White and her two daughters were given emergency treatment by Dr. Pete Siegel and White is being cared for by Dr. Stanley Fisher, who took charge of the family as their family doctor.

Leonard was treated by Dr. John Lamy. Dr. Siegel also examined Mrs McCormack, and released her to continue on to Independence.

Trooper George A. Hamilton, California, Mo., of the State Highway Patrol, Troop F, investigated the accident. According to information he was able to obtain from the victims of the accidents was that Leonard was headed east in

Youth Killed, Three Injured on Turnpike

EMPORIA, Kan., (AP)—An 19-year-old boy was killed and three companions seriously injured in a one-car accident on the Kansas Turnpike nine miles southwest of the Emporia interchange today.

Dead is Victor Manuel Castro of Wichita. He was identified from papers in his pocket.

The injured were taken to Newman Hospital here. Their names and injuries were not known immediately.

Arsonist May Be to Blame

FIREBUG'S FIELD DAY? — A barn formerly used for horses and mules at the Oklahoma City stockyards goes up in flames. The loss was estimated at $150,000 by a company official. It was the first of three fires which Oklahoma City firemen battled the same night and Fire Chief G. R. McAlpine said there was "no question" it and the others were the work of a pyromaniac. No injuries were reported at any of the fires which included a feed storage building and a residence.

End of Touchy Assignment

LITTLE ROCK MISSION COMPLETED — With the remaining 225 men of the 101st Airborne Division terminating duty in Little Rock, equipment is loaded on a plane from Ft. Campbell, Ky., for the trip back to their home base. The troops have been on duty at Central High School in Little Rock, Ark., since President Eisenhower ordered them there Sept. 26. There still are approximately 900 men of the federalized Arkansas Guard on duty at the school. (NEA Telephoto.)

Ike Decided To Keep Church Trip a Secret

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was President Eisenhower's own idea to keep secret the fact he was going to church today until after he had actually gone, the White House said today.

After the President and the First Lady returned to the White House, press secretary James C. Hagerty told a news conference he had learned of the plan from Eisenhower himself about 10 a.m.

"He told me Mrs. Eisenhower was going to church, which I knew," Hagerty related, "but he also said he was going to escort her—which I didn't know."

Responding to a question, Hagerty said Dr. Howard M. Snyder, the White House physician, knew in advance about the President's church plans and had given "complete approval."

Explaining why reporters got no advance word of Eisenhower's departure from the White House, Hagerty said the President personally had enjoined him against making any general announcement until he and Mrs. Eisenhower were actually on the way.

Asked why the President did that, Hagerty replied:

"The President has always believed that when he goes to church he goes as an individual to worship his God, and not with a flock of reporters and photographers."

Turkey—A Good Buy

Turkey heads the list of lean meats in high protein and low fat content, and the price you'll pay this year makes turkey one of the lowest meat choices. High in protein, low in cost give added pleasure as you make your turkey choices this year. The reason you are paying less is answered by the fact that turkey raisers have produced more birds this year than ever before.

The larger size turkeys usually sell at a lower price per pound. These are the tom turkeys which are good buys starting at around 20 pounds. As the tom reaches the weight of 18 to 20 pounds, it is fully matured, and the rate of meat produced is extremely high. For example, a 22-pound tom turkey yields 50 per cent roasted meat while a 16-pound tom yields about 43 per cent. If a 10-pound size is your need and freezer space is available have this economy 20 pounder split in half and use for two occasions.

How Much Turkey to Buy—For each generous serving of roasted whole turkey (you may need more than one serving per person) allow ¾ to 1 pound of ready-to-cook tor shelf in the transparent moisweight for birds weighing less than 12 pounds; ½ to ¾ pound for birds weighing 12 pounds and over. When buying a frozen stuffed turkey allow about 1½ pounds per person.

Thawing Frozen Turkey — Because most turkeys on retail markets today are frozen, it's important to consider thawing time as well as cooking time. Turkey must be thawed all the way through not only for even cooking, but also in order to remove the packaged giblets from the body cavity and to stuff easily. Thawing in the refrigerator is best though slow. A large bird takes from two to four days, depending on size, to thaw thoroughly in the refrigerator—small whole birds or halves of large birds one to two days.

Place the bird on the refrigerature-resistant wrapper it sells in. To hasten the thawing, leave the packaged turkey in the refrigerator 24 hours and then finish the thawing with cold running water which may take 1 to 3 hours, depending on size.

Ready-to-cook turkey of top quality should need no cleaning before cooking. However, it's wise to look your turkey over carefully, inside and out, and remove any spongy red lung tissue from inside of the back or pull out any pinfeathers. Then wash the turkey and giblets in cold running water and dry them.

Frozen stuffed turkeys should be handled as directed on the package. Research from commercial time can be reduced about an hour without concern by placing the turkey in the refrigerator at 40 degrees for 12 to 18 hours.

To Emphasize Relation

Social Security Office Will Observe Farm and City Week

The Sedalia social security office, together with 557 other district offices of the Social Security Administration, is cooperating with farm and business industries in the nationwide observance of Farm-City Week, Thomas F. Nash, district manager, announced today.

Since the objective of National Farm-City Week (Nov. 22-28), is to stress the interrelation of rural and urban peoples, Nash said that the Social Security Administration will emphasize the "oneness" of its old-age, survivors, and disability program. By participating in the observance of National Farm City Week, Nash recognizes an opportunity for his office to correct some of the misunderstanding on the part of both the farmer and the city dweller about the purpose of social security insurance.

"Some people do not fully understand that the social security program is the same for the farmer and for the city person," Nash said. "Many farmers still think that old-age, survivors, and disability insurance for them and their families is a distinct and separate program from the social security program for city folks. Some believe erroneously, that when they reach retirement age they just have to apply at their social security district office for "farmers' benefits and then go right on with their farming activities," he declared.

As a possible reason for this misunderstanding, Nash pointed out that the social security law does contain a few special provisions for farmers in recognition of the fact that farming differs in many ways from the operation of other business enterprises. These provisions relate to the way self-employed farmers are permitted to figure their net earnings for social security purposes if their gross farm income is not more than $1,800 and their net is less than $1,200; also the manner in which farm rental income received from a tenant or share-farmer can count for social security credit if the farm landlord "materially participates" in the operation of the land he rents out.

These special provisions for farm operators, however, have nothing to do with the type of social security benefits payable or work eligibility for benefits. Emphasizing that there are no special "farmers' benefits," Nash said that farmers and their families qualify for these federal insurance payments based on a farmer's work under social security just like millions of city workers who are employed or self-employed in offices, factories, mercantile enterprises or covered professions in urban areas. "Old-age, survivors, and disability insurance is not a farm subsidy," he declared.

The ever-growing interdependence of farm and city as a result of the machine age has created a need to bring about a better understanding of our farm economy by urban people and of town and city problems by rural people. "Our social insurance program is an important part of that economy by paying out $15,000,000 each month in retirement and survivor benefits. That interdependence was a factor in the extension of old-age, survivors, and disability insurance to farm people, and it is the reason why the Social Security Administration is whole-heartedly cooperating in the observance of National Farm-City Week," Nash declared.

Untimely Failure

Leonard Farr Accused In Stock Theft

The mystery of the disappearance of livestock, a head at a time, from farms in the 4-County Area may have been solved with the arrest last Thursday of Leonard Farr, 26, of Kansas City. Farr resided for a time in Windsor and formerly lived in the Roseland community, according to Henry County Sheriff Lawrence W. Sartin.

Farr waived his preliminary hearing Tuesday before Magistrate Judge Mark Wilson in Clinton on a charge of grand larceny. He was bound over to circuit court for trial and remanded to jail in default of $5,000 bond. The charge involves the theft of a roan cow belonging to Ernest Hall, north of Shawnee Mound.

It was the persistency of Sheriff Sartin and his deputy, Virgil Bartles, that solved the loss of the Hall cow and other rural thefts recently. When Hall reported the loss of his cow last Thursday noon, Sheriff Sartin instructed his deputy to make a thorough check of the entire area to see if anyone had seen a roan cow being hauled away. The search paid off when a filling station operator on Highway 13 at Concordia told of seeing a cow answering the description in a trailer behind a car that stopped to have a flat tire repaired.

Farr was arrested that night at the home of his father, northeast of Roseland, in Benton County by Sheriff Bob White, who acted on a request from Sheriff Sartin. He was also being sought by Benton County authorities on a check charge.

Information obtained from Farr by Sheriff Sartin and Henry County Prosecutor William Cason led to the recovery of Hall's cow Friday in the sale barn at Warrensburg. Sheriff Saritn reports that information given by Farr has solved the theft of four cows, a white sow and four other head of cattle taken from farms in Henry, Johnson, Pettis and Benton Counties. The livestock was disposed of through sale barns at Windsor, Knob Noster, Clinton, Warrensburg and Warsaw. All but one had been sold in the name of Farr, Sheriff Sartin said.

Two calves taken from the Herbert Bradley farm, northeast of Calhoun, were sold through the sale barn at Clinton. They were traced and recovered from the buyer at the sale.

Farr would rent a trailer and drive out into the country, according to Sartin. He would stop at a house on the pretense of wanting to buy junk. If no one was at home and there was livestock in the barn lot, he would drop the endgate of the trailer and load one into it and drive off. The cows were reported to have brought prices ranging from $50 to $144.50 each.

Acheson Will Speak On Foreign Relations

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 21—(AP)—Dean Acheson, former secretary of state, will make a foreign relations address here Jan. 16 at the annual Eddie Jacobson Memorial Foundation dinner.

Former President Harry S. Truman said today Acheson's speech "will be of importance to the entire country." Acheson served in the Truman administration.

Truman is honorary chairman of the foundation named in memory of Jacobson, a friend and former business partner of Truman's, who died in October, 1955. The foundation is engaged in scholarship and other philanthropic programs.

Railroads File Notice Of Intended Fare Hike

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—(AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission said today 11 Eastern railroads have filed notice they intend to raise their basic interstate passenger coach fares again. They propose a 5 per cent boost effective Jan. 1.

Under the proposal, the minimum one-way coach fare would become 30 cents instead of the present 26 cents. The basic coach rate would go up from 3.7212 cents a mile to 3.906 cents a mile.

The Eastern railroads generally increased their coach fares by 5 per cent last January, when a similar increase was made effective in Southern and Western territories.

Button Up Your Overcoat

Weather maps, below, give you the U. S. Weather Bureau's long-range forecast from now until mid-December. It is not a specific forecast in the usual sense, but an ESTIMATE of average temperatures and precipitation for the period.

Precipitation is expected to exceed normal over much of the nation in the next few weeks, much of it in the form of snow in western Lake region, Northern Plains and Rocky Mountain areas. Near-normal amounts of moisture are expected in the Pacific Northwest, the Southeast and Southern Plains states.

Temperatures below average seasonal normals will plague the western half of the nation until mid-December. The eastern third of the nation will experience above-normal temperatures, with New England getting much-above-normal treatment. Sandwiched in-between: a belt of near-normal temperatures.

Says Nostalgia Cheats Youngsters of Proper High School Education

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — A. F. Throckmorton, Kansas superintendent of schools, says nostalgia for the little red school house is cheating 10,000 youngsters in the state of an opportunity for an adequate high school education.

"Rural people, unwilling to relinquish tangible evidence of their days in one-room schools, refuse to allow them to be consolidated," Throckmorton said. "They are doing children an injustice by the maintenance of marginal schools while better schools are available."

Three Children Die In Fire That Takes One Room Farm Home

WEST PLAINS, Mo. (AP) — Fire killed the three small children of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Upton in their one-room home 10 miles southwest of here last night.

The flames broke out while Upton, 28, and his wife, Julia, 21, were doing chores at a barn a quarter-mile away.

The children were Peggy Sue, 6; Kenneth, 3, and Johnny, 9 months.

The father said the flames apparently were started by a wood-burning stove near the door. He suffered minor burns in a futile effort to reach the children who were huddled in a corner.

Highway Patrol Issues Summary

Pettis County Shows Better Traffic Record in October

Pettis County went through October with a better traffic record for the month of October than the comparative month in 1956, while the ten-month period comparison was somewhat divided. The eight-county area showed a decided improvement in the one-month comparison, but the ten-month comparison picture was not so good.

For Pettis County there were 18 accidents compared with 17 for the months of October, 1957 and 1956 there were no fatalitels; only four injured during the month as compared with seven a year ago; and the property loss was down, it being $7,865 compared to $10,825 in 1956.

For the ten-month period, there were 159 accidents against 170 in 1956; the fatalities were one less, there being five this year as compared to six in 1956; there were 98 persons injured against 94; and property loss for the ten months was up $8,802, it being $108,343 for 1957 as compared to $99,541 in 1956.

The eight-county area report shows 114 accidents for October as compared with 11 in 1956; five persons killed against nine in October, 1956; 65 persons injured as compared with 90; and the property loss is down, it being $68,755 as compared with 111 in 1956; five

The ten-month comparison is: 1,178 accidents against 1,059 in 1956; 61 persons killed, 45 a year ago; 706 persons injured against 764; property loss up $66,404, the losses being $711,226 this year against $644,822 in 1956.

The eight-county area is comprised of Pettis, Saline, Lafayette, Johnson, Henry, and Benton in the State Highway Patrol Troop A area, and Morgan and Cooper Counties of the Troop F area.

PTA Council Observes Education Week

In observance of National Education Week the Sedalia PTA Council had a 1 o'clock luncheon on Wednesday, Nov. 13, at the First Baptist Church with the Parent Family Life chairmen of the Sedalia units in charge.

Mrs. Howard Gwinn, president of Sedalia District, gave the invocation and the devotional was given by Mrs. Charles Poynter.

Mrs. Howard Hillman, council chairman of Parent and Family Life, introduced Captain Tinsley, chaplain at Whiteman Air Force Base, who gave a most interesting talk on Japan and showed pictures he had taken while stationed there.

A skit entitled: "Betsy Joins the American Youth League for Peace," was presented by Miss Ann Sagar, Miss Kay Matthews and Mrs. Ann Hamilton, all members of the Business and Professional Women's Club, sponsoring the observance of "Know Your America Week" which is Nov. 24 through 30. A short talk on "Know Your America Week" was given by Mrs. Marjorie Garansson, general chairman, also a BPWC member.

Guests at the luncheon were: the Rev. J. R. Wallace, pastor of the First Baptist Church and Mrs. Wallace; Forrest Drake, principal of Smith-Cotton High School; Pinkney Miller, assistant principal of Smith-Cotton; P. A. Sillers, director of elementary schools; Miss Bessie Perkins, principal of Washington School; Miss Edith Couey, principal of Broadway School; John Thomas, principal of Whittier School; Harry Browder, principal of Hubbard; John Vogel, principal of Jefferson School, and George Thompson, principal of Horace Mann.

Agriculture Department Hopes to Retire About 30 Million Acres Land

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—(AP)—The Agriculture Department announced today it hopes about 30 million acres of crop land will be retired from production next year under its soil bank program.

That compares with about 26,800,000 acres retired this year.

The agency will have 850 million dollars available for subsidy payments to farmers who take land out of production of crops already in surplus. That compares with 732 million dollars obligated under contracts this year.

The department also announced that the 1958 rates for retiring land under the acreage reserve part of the program will average slightly higher than this year because of increasing acre yields of crops from which land is to be diverted. These crops are wheat, cotton, corn, rice and tobacco, the same crops as this year.

Blair Urges PCA Help In Withholding System

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 21—(AP)—Gov. James T. Blair and the state director of revenue joined today in urging the Public Accountants Assn. of Missouri to help get a state income tax withholding system into action.

Both the governor and Revenue Director Milton Carpenter addressed the accountants' annual tax conference. They said all the income tax due the state can be collected only by withholding it from salaries.

They said all money due under present tax rates should be collected before the state seeks any tax increase.

Blair told the accountants his new budget staff for the first time is providing the governor with detailed knowledge of the state's fiscal setup.

Couple Wins Island In Limerick Contest

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—What would you do if you suddenly won a South Pacific island complete with furnished hut, outrigger canoe and a native man Friday?

Well, the Kent Shelbys, who won an island in a national limerick contest sponsored by a movie studio and travel agency, have this to say:

"We intend to bask in the sun and just fish and swim and read and let the rest of the world go by."

Shelby, 23, an aircraft worker, said yesterday that he, his wife and 15-month-old daughter plan to fly to the 4½-acre island in the Fiji group about the first of the year.

"If it's as good as it sounds we may never come back," Shelby said.

Says Federal Aid Is Threat to Schools

DALLAS (AP)—School Supt. W. T. White says the biggest threat to public school education is interference by the federal government.

Dallas schools are under court order to integrate after midterm.

White said those who ask the federal government for aid "are handing over to outside power the rights and responsibilities that ought to be handled on a local level.

"I had rather have less money, not as good equipment, school houses less well built . . . as long as we keep it at the local level," he said.

Firemen Place Dystrophy Fund Boxes

Frank Sloan, 918 South Kentucky, chairman of Local Chapter 823, International Fire Fighters, for the Muscular Dystrophy Drive, and his committee, Roy Tarr, Robert Paxton, Kenneth Sublett and Buddy Tarr, have been in charge of the canisters and have placed 126 in Sedalia.

This, the committee claims, is a step to destroy the destroyer. Sloan says the hour glass canisters dramatically illustrate that time is running out for 200,000 victims of muscular dystrophy while medical research races to find a cure for them.

The drive is Nov. 18 to Dec. 1.

Marjorie McKinney will be in charge of the girls in the lobby of the theatres. On Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday they will be at the Uptown and on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Fox.

Mrs. William Lon Hardin, 1816 East Broadway, is president of the Pettis County Chapter of Muscular Dystrophy, and announces that all postage will be paid by the Pettis County Chapter for contributions mailed to the Pettis County Chapter, Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Workers in the second ward, second precinct, are:

Mrs. A. L. Jones, captain, Mrs. Howard Richards, Mrs. Jerry Morris, Mrs. James Hall, Mrs. J. E. Gehlken. Miss Patty Cornelius, Mrs. Clyde Waggoner, Mrs. Herbert Sands, Mrs. Betty Sublett, Mrs. Alma Kabler, Mrs. Harold Ryan and Mrs. Alburn Fenders.

Bazaar-Card Party To Be Held Tonight At Horace Mann Gym

Epsilon Beta's card party and bazaar will be held tonight at Horace Mann gymnasium beginning at 7:30 p.m. This is a benefit card party with the money being used to buy Christmas presents for the residents of Buena Vista. Coffee, donuts, and soft drinks will be available during the evening. Fudge and brownies will also be on sale.

Hand made articles will be for sale including six sets of hand made doll clothes with crocheted hats and coats, made and donated by Mrs. Henry Lamm Sr. A white elephant booth and an unusual booth featuring desk and door markers, and mail box name plates will also be set up.

Thirteen door prizes will be given away. Additional prizes have been donated by Broadway Lanes Inc., Walter's Drive In Market, Woolworth's and Sealtest Dairy.

Boiler Blast Sinks Italian Freighter; 2 Die, Over 100 Hurt

NAPLES, Italy, Nov. 2—(AP)—A boiler explosion blasted an Italian freighter to the bottom of the Naples harbor today, killing at least two men. Flying debris injured more than 100 others and spread destruction along the busy waterfront.

Darkness halted efforts by divers to search the shattered 2,275-ton Anna Maria Ievoli for from five to eight men believed trapped and dead in the debris.

The freighter was getting up steam at her dock for a trip to Sicily when the boiler blew up with a tremendous roar.

The blast shattered windows in Piazza Municipali Naples' City Hall Square about 1,000 feet from the dock. Shattered glass struck persons in the square.

Rivets and steel plates were hurled among scores of passers-by on the docks.

Twenty-nine persons were hospitalized, five of them in critical condition. Thirty more persons were treated for minor injuries at the hospital and released, officials said.

Tells Jaycee-ettes Of New Hair Styles

The Jaycee-Ettes met Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Old Missouri Homestead at which time Mr. John was the speaker giving an interesting fashion talk on new trends in hair styles.

A talk was given by Mrs. Bob Dillard on "Know Your America Week" which is next week at the close of which Mrs. Bill Burkholder sang "God Bless America." Plans were also made to have a car in the parade which will be held at 4 p.m. Monday, Nov. 25.

Plans by convention committees were completed with everybody helping.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Peggy Walz

Court Grants Tax Cut for Wolf Whistles

SHEFFIELD, England (AP) — A tax valuation court has granted shapely, 31-year-old Mrs. Mildred Barker a cut of 2 pounds ($5.60) a year in her real estate tax because of wolves.

Mrs. Barker said the wolves were the male employes of an engineering works a few yards from her home. She testified she drew wolf whistles "when I hang out the laundry, when I wash the steps and when I sun bathe in summer."

She argued, and the tax court agreed yesterday, that this lessened the value of the house.

Shower Honors Bride-To-Be

Miss Evelina Shipps was honored with a bridal shower Monday night, Nov. 11 at the home of Mrs. Larry Turner, Green Ridge.

The evening was spent playing games.

Refreshments were served to: Miss Shipps, Mrs. and Mrs. Paul Shipps, Mr. and Mrs. George Handley, Mrs. R. J. Handley, Mrs. A. B. Clevenger, Mrs. Justine Ragar, Mrs. Arthur Turner and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Turner and daughters.

Unable to attend but sending gifts were: Mrs. Tom Williams, Mrs. Jim Baslee, Mrs. Perry Smith, Mrs. Don Anderson, Mrs. Palmer Nichols, Mrs. T. J. Turner, Mrs. George Perriguey, Mrs. Cecil Perriguey and Mrs. John Ballah.

MoPac Women's Club Votes to Participate In Christmas Parade

The regular monthly meeting of the Missouri Pacific Women's Club was held Monday night, Nov. 18, at the Little Theatre, with the president, Mrs. Oliver Blankenship, presiding.

The meeting was opened at 8 p.m. with the singing of the club song, followed by the invocation by Mrs. Lottie White.

The matter of entering a float in the Christmas parade was discussed but no definite action was taken, although it was decided to participate in the parade in some manner.

Announcement was made concerning the annual Christmas party to be held jointly by the Women's Club and the Booster Club at the Smith-Cotton cafeteria on Sunday, Dec. 15, with the Women's Club to furnish the entertainment and serve refreshments.

Linda Turner Will Speak at DAR Meeting

The November meeting of the Osage Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be held Saturday, Nov. 23.

A dessert luncheon will be served in the Ambassador Room of the Bothwell Hotel at 1:30 p.m. Reservations to be in by Friday, 'phone 1721.

Miss Linda Turner, American Field Service student, will speak on her experiences in Bavaria, Germany, the past summer.

This will be guest day and members may bring guests.

TEL Class Remembers Shut-ins at Holiday

The TEL Class of Syracuse Baptist Church met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. George Peoples.

Mrs. Peoples presided over the meeting and Mrs. T. M. Bahrenburg gave the devotional. The class decided to have a social once each quarter and everyone was reminded to not forget the shut-ins of the community at the holiday season.

The class was divided into four groups and the following were appointed as captains: Mrs. R. E. Kirchner, Mrs. Earl Steele, Mrs. Harrison Fowler and Mrs. C. D. Walters.

Refreshments were served.

4-H Club Draws Names For Holiday Exchange

Harmony Hustlers 4-H club met recently at the home of Mary Jane Cassadorf with 13 members, six guests and three leaders present.

Names were drawn for the Christmas party and a committee was appointed. They are Mary Mertgen, Gar Payne, Linda Page and Mrs. Starr Page.

The next meeting will be the Christmas party Dec. 13 at the home of Bruce, Ralph and Judy Bevington.

Sedalians Initiated Into Honorary Group

Misses Mary Ann Adams and Rosalee Alexander, Sedalia, have been initiated into Alpha Phi Sigma, a national honorary scholastic fraternity at Central Missouri State College at Warrensburg. To Sigma, a student must have been valedictorian or the salutatorian of his high school graduating class or have a 3.25 grade point average for three consecutive terms in college.

Garden Clubs Award Four Scholarships

The Federated Garden Clubs of Missouri of which the Sedalia Garden Clubs are part have awarded four University of Missouri students $300 scholarships according to John H. Longwell, dean of the University's College of Agriculture. They are Miss Ok Joo Pai, Seoul, Korea and Jackie H. Hamilton, Overland, who are both majoring in floriculture, and Carl Settergren, Florissant and Richard Kilbury, Kansas City, who are enrolled in the School of Forestry. Selection for the scholarships was made by faculty members in the Department of Horticulture and School of Forestry.

Wisconsin still is governed by its original constitution, the oldest state constitution west of the Alleghenies.

It's a Snap to Photograph Your Christmas Greetings

Set the stage for a Christmas card photo that shows your family as they are THIS year. "Tree," at left, is a number of pine boughs tied or stapled to a wooden upright.

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

A reminder for those of us who dawdled too long last year over the Christmas card list: now's the time to plan photographic greetings and personalized cards.

If this seems frightfully early to you, just remember the crowds you'll miss, the better service you'll enjoy and the assurance you'll have that your order will be filled in time for addition of unhurried personal notes, addressing and mailing.

As beautiful as this year's cards are, family and close friends living at a distance cherish the photographic greeting.

Don't regret you didn't take a Christmas snapshot last year to use this year. Young children, especially, change too rapidly and people want to see how they look now.

If you're a casual amateur in the camera field, don't try for tricky effects. Keep the picture simple.

Set the stage to suggest a holiday atmosphere without detracting from the subjects. For "props" pull out some of the Christmas decorations you store each year. Include the reeting in the picture, if you like.

If you use one of the newer, inespensive, box-type cameras, you can take color pictures and slides as well as black and white.

How to set the stage? Recall what you have in storage.

An artificial wreath hung on the front door conveys a holiday spirit even on a warm autumn day. Decorative felt stockings are good props, as are mantel decorations.

One favorite trick of professional photographers is to suggest a Christmas tree at one edge of the picture.

An easy way to duplicate this is to rope or staple a few evergreen boughs to a wooden stand or post set in a wastebasket weighted with bricks.

Trim the tips of the boughs with ornaments and place the tree on the side of the setting so that just the edges will appear in the print.

Two or three wrapped, dummy packages add to the illusion of a Christmas morning scene. This leaves the balance of the negative for the main subject.

In using dummy packages as props, I've learned to stick to patterned papers or solid, colored tissue with contrasting ribbons and to avoid the shiny, metallic papers.

As gala as those look to the eye, they are tricky to photograph with a single flash.

Including the greeting in the picture can be done with ready-made articles bearing the message, such as signs strung across the mantel or welcome mats.

The appropriate words can be chalked on a blackboard or spelled out in alphabet blocks.

You might paint or cut the greeting from plastic tape and make signs to be used in the backgrounds.

In addition to using the finished print for a greeting card, a picture can also add a pleasant touch to small holiday gifts: tuck one into a purse-size snapshot book or a new billfold as a special mark of your thoughtfulness to someone special.

Higgins Family In Visit to Quincy, Ill.

By Mrs. Russell Kendrick

KNOB NOSTER — The Rev. and Mrs. Harry Higgins, Melba and Billy spent Friday and Saturday in Quincy, Ill., with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Higgins Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thurston, Independence, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterman and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Peterman and Christopher Edward.

Mrs. Jack Robinson was hostess to the Junior Sorosis of Versailles. Mrs. Kern Etter and Mrs. Bill Caine were assistant hostesses.

Mrs. Shirley Rowe presided over the meeting and Mrs. Langston Henderson gave the program, "Mother of Thanksgiving." Twenty members and one guest, Mrs. Bob Francis, were present.

Easy-to-Make 'Pinata' Hold Gifts and Delight Children

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

The gaiety and suspense of the charming Latin-American pinata will be as enthusiastically enjoyed by your youngsters this Christmas as by their little neighbors to the south. A pinata is a container for gifts which are released by the children on a given signal as the climax of a special occasion.

The most familiar type of pinata is the earthenware container filled with tiny goodies and suspended above the children's heads. Sticks are used to break the pinata and shower down the gifts. But there are several variations.

Latin-American friends of mine tell me pinatas can be made in fanciful shapes from paper or cardboard often quite elaborately done. Sometimes they are used as table centerpieces with ribbons leading to the gifts. Pinatas are featured at Christmas, at birthday parties and similar special children's parties.

I've wanted to try one for my offspring but have looked in vain for an authentic pinata in our town. So I was delighted when more artistic friends worked out a simple pinata I could make from handy materials without losing the spirit of the occasion.

This is better suited to average American homes where the container will be broken indoors. Although your ingenuity will suggest other designs, this is a Santa pinata.

To make it you'll need one large shopping bag; one fold of flame-proof red crepe paper and one in white; aluminum foil; paste; ribbons, scraps of red and blue paper or gummed red and blue crepe paper.

First, cut out the bottom of the shopping bag. Then cut off a four-inch-wide strip of red crepe paper from unopened fold. Using sharp scissors, cut into the unopened strip, spacing each cut about an inch and a quarter apart and two inches deep.

Paste red strip around bottom of bag. Place second red strip two inches above the first. Cut about eight identical strips of white crepe and cover most of the bag so that only a five-inch band around the top remains uncovered. Cover this section with an uncut strip of red crepe.

Second, use staples or cellophane tape or strong adhesive tape to secure foil to bottom of the bag.

Third, curl straight ends of cut paper by rolling these ends over a pencil or scissor blade.

Fourth, paste onto white crepe the crescent-shaped eyes cut from blue paper, and nose and mouth cut from red paper.

Fifth, cut slits in foil base. Put small gifts, some tied to ribbons, in bag and pull ribbons through the slits.

Sixth, make handles from two ribbon loops stapled to the top of the bag and decorate with a pompon of crepe paper or ribbon bows.

Suspend the pinata from a ceiling fixture or small hook. When the time comes to break it open, let the children pull the ribbons.

Sgt. E. L. Hall 16 Years In Air Service

By Miss Cora Cordry

King's Daughters Have Social Meeting

The King's Daughters Sunday School Class of the Warsaw Baptist Church met Thursday afternoon at the church. Mrs. Sam Creasy teaches the class. Group II with Mrs. Myrtle Witt as captain, had charge of the program. The devotion from Matthew 23 was given by Mrs. Cora Martin. The Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison by the group. The history of the Pilgrims was given by Mrs. Wilbur Howell, a poem "I Thank the Lord" was read by Mrs. Lena Ketchum. Small candles were placed at each individual place and as each person lighted her candle she told of one thing she was thankful for.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Ketchum. Sixteen members answered roll call by repeating a Bible verse. Mrs. Tom Scott had charge of the social hour.

The autumn and Thanksgiving motiff was carried out in the table decorations. The centerpiece was a mirror with a small ship, "the Mayflower," and a beautiful arrangement of colored autumn leaves, cut flowers and small turkey cut-outs. Refreshments were served.

Santa Claus Is All Set For Outer Space

READY FOR OUTER SPACE—Top of Santa's pack this Christmas is this realistic version of the Navy's newest anti-aircraft gun, geared to long-range rocket warfare.

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Santa, being an old space pilot himself, is all set to conquer interplanetary flight by Christmas.

His 1957 pack already was well stocked with electronic guided missiles and rocket launchers when Sputnik invaded the sky, touching off a new rush of satellite-inspired playthings which are pouring off assembly lines of Toyland to keep junior space men up to date.

Science takes the spotlight in Toyland as elsewhere this Christmas, as children take in stride the imminence of space travel and confidently expect toys in step with the times.

"This is a trend that has been evident for several years," says Melvin Freud, president of Toy Guidance Council. "Radar, atomic energy and electronics have inspired a huge volume of playthings."

Some new thrills that will keep small fry abreast of the headlines this Christmas include a sky sweeper truck with a miniature Nike rocket launcher and a rotating searchlight. There's a satellite launcher truck that spins plastic "moons" into the playroom stratosphere. And there's a toy version of the latest Navy equipment in anti-aircraft rocket guns.

Such up-to-the-minute names as "super-satellite station" and "radar rocket" keep Toyland in the groove, as do such novelties as a flying "sonic" rocket ship powered by a high-pitched whistle, satellite balloons, ray guns and missile trackers.

While outer space gets feature billing in this year's toy pack, there are plenty of new playthings geared to less sensational phases of American life. There are prefabricated girders and panels for junior builders, miniature teletypes and tape recorders that really work, intercom telephones and play-size power drills. And for girls there are high fashion dolls and miniature kitchens that rival Mom's in modern appliances.

Brand new to put under his tree this Christmas is this shirt (upper left) of all-cotton broadcloth that can be washed and worn with no ironing. This Van Heusen design is chlorine-resistant, has permanent collar stays that cannot be lost or broken. After-shave lotion and deodorant are packed together by Seaforth (upper right) in containers covered with plaid fabric and capped in gold. Nice for his shelf of grooming accessories. Small and handsome leather gifts (lower left) include alligator secretary-wallet, slim evening wallet in pin seal, pin seal wallet and key case combination. The cotton knit sport shirt (lower right) takes on a new look in carefully tailored design with placket treatment.

Give the Man in Your Life Clothes for Play or Work

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

When you shop for a gift for the most important man on your Christmas list, take your cue from the kind of person he is. Is he bookish, outdoorish, a gourmet or a travel fiend?

Whatever, the clue to the gift that will please him most lies in his enthusiasms about living. He may even drop a hint as to what he'd like though most men are not as subtle and clever about this sort of thing as women.

If you really want to do the thing up handsomely, give him one gift that's a luxury and one that's practical. In other words, something to wear. There's a sound reason for this. American men are notably generous, to the point where their wives usually have by far the larger wardrobes. So most men are usually in need of shirts, sweaters, robes, socks, ties, handkerchiefs, pajamas and anything else that's wearable.

This year, they get a break in the new shirts that are 100 per cent cotton broadcloth and can be washed and worn without ironing. These new shirts will go a long way in overcoming the resistance of many men to drip-dry shirts. They have all of the advantages of a regular shirt and none of the discomforts or disadvantages of the first drip-dry shirts. Further, they have permanent collar stays or button-down collars.

Leisure clothes now play a more important part in the lives of most men, so a cotton knit sport shirt or two won't go wrong under his Chrismas tree. Look for careful tailoring and colors that are neat but not gaudy. An alternate, of course, is the leather shirt, definitely a luxury item but one that most men will appreciate.

Small gifts in leather are ideal gifts. The alligator secretary wallet or slim wallet are both luxuries, both gifts of which you can be proud. Or, give him a very slim evening wallet in pin seal with 14 karat gold edges. You might add a pin seal key case and wallet combination for daytime use and tuck an eye glass case into his stocking.

One of the best looking grooming sets, new for Christmas giving this year, combines after-shave lotion and stick deodorant in heather scent. Both come in containers covered with plaid fabric and capped with golden tops.

Started Career Here

Ex-Sedalian Is Subject Of Article in Magazine

The following story about Harry Meuschke, son of Mrs. Lois Harris Meuschke, 618½ West Broadway, and the late Harry Meuschke, for many years a Sedalia merchant, appeared in the September-October issue of NBC Chimes, the NBC magazine published in New York City:

"From teaching in the Navy to interviewing glamorous Hollywood personalities; in a nutshell, that quickly spans the interesting life of Harry Meuschke, West Coast producer of NBC Radio's Monitor and Nightline shows.

"Harry is responsible for many of the informal chats with top TV and movie names that you hear on these shows. Skillfully, he guides the conversation from a brief capsule of the star's current activities to a sound picture of his subject's home or a discussion of his subject's unusual hobby.

"In quest of his personality interview, Harry is a regular visitor at the major motion picture studios and at Hollywood premieres. But for the personal touch, he likes to catch the stars in their home surroundings where they relax and willingly discuss things.

"A product of Sedalia, Mo., Harry broke into radio right out of high school when his creative handling of a town talent show won him a disk jockey job with the local station KDRO. After a steady diet of spinning hillbilly and cowboy music, and reading farm stock market reports, he left KDRO for a hitch in the Navy.

"In Hollywood, Harry spent two years with the Pasadena Playhouse and another year with local station KTTV before coming to NBC.

"This husky, 29-year-old producer is married and has a four-year-old daughter."

Harry will be remembered by his Sedalia friends as Bill. His name is really Harry William and he grew up here as Bill, but when he went into the Navy, of course he became Harry, because that was his first name. Then when he went to college it was the same again — and so he had been called Harry so much that his nickname Bill, for the William in his name, just became something that belonged to his old home town.

Harry's voice, however, is not heard on the air. He gets paid for the interviews of famous show people which is recorded, but it is always another voice than his who ask the questions on the broadcast. But the questions are Harry's own. They would have to pay him each time the recordings were played if his voice was used, this way it is cheaper for they pay him just for the interview.

Americanism Is the Theme At Lions Club

"Know Your America Week" was the theme of the program for the Sedalia Lions Club at its noonday meeting Wednesday. The program was in charge of Mrs. Marjorie Garansson, chairman of "Know Your America Week," in Sedalia.

The Rev. Leonard Reifel, pastor of the Federated Church, gave a brief talk on the subject in which he stressed the dangers of Communism.

Mrs. Garansson, introduced members of the Business and Professional Women's Club who gave a skit showing how easy an innocent person can be trapped into a Communist organization under the guise of it being a civic organization, peace organization or some religious organization. Taking part in the skit were Mrs. Jim Hamilton, Miss Kay Matthews and Miss Anne Sagar.

Phillip Pfeiffer, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Garansson, who in turn introduced Rev. Reifel and the BPW "actresses."

Guests at the meeting were Homer Stanfield, Boonville, with Ray Brueckner, and Ray Baker, guest of E. B. Smith.

V. H. Bradshaw, Missouri state secretary of Lions, was a visitor at the meeting.

It was announced by International Counselor Smith the district convention of District 26-C would be held in Moberly on March 30 this year, instead of holding the meeting in June or July as in previous years. The reason for the early convention is to have Past International President Elbert of Illinois as the principal speaker.

Secretary Bradshaw announced the Missouri Lions will have a unique band at the International Convention in Chicago this year. The Missouri School for the Blind 40-piece marching band is being taken to Chicago to appear in the parade and before the convention.

This band was completely outfitted with musical instruments and uniforms by the Lions Council of St. Louis and St. Louis County. It is believed to be the only all-blind marching band in the United States.

Also the Lions of Charleston, Mo., are taking their high school band to appear in the parade. The big marching band is one of the top musical groups of Southeast Missouri.

An $8,000 float of the Missouri Dairy Association is also being taken to Chicago for the International parade and will have with it Missouri's Maid of Milk Queen.

President A. B. Warren announced the holiday sales on fruit cakes is nearing the first half goal. Money from the fruit cake sales will be used in connection with the Lions work with the Crippled Children's Center.

his car, a 1951 Ford coach. White was driving his car, a 1953 Chevrolet coach, and headed west, while the third car a 1950 Chevrolet coach, driven by McCormack was also going west, following the White car at some distance.

According to the information Trooper Hamilton reporter it appeared as if Leonard pulled to the left side of the pavement into the approaching line of traffic and his car and that of White's crashed head on. So terrific was the collision, that McCormack, who was braking his car to a stop, was also hit when the White car was knocked backwards and crashed into the front of his vehicle.

Both the Leonard and White cars were demolished while extensive damage resulted to the McCormack vehicle.

The cars of White and McCormack were towed to Otterville by Castle Brothers wrecker and taken to their lot in Otterville. The Leonard car was towed to Sedalia by a wrecker from Chamberlin's Service Garage.

The White family was enroute to Sedalia. Leonard was reported going to California. Mr. and Mrs. McCormack were enroute to Independence to spent the Thanksgiving holidays with Mrs. McCormack's parents and with his mother in Kansas City.

The accident was the first reported serious mishap in the eight county area over the Thanksgiving holidays.

said it appeared to him as if Green was struck on the head by a tie-rod. The truck, in slipping from the jack, bounced on its front wheels and caught Green between the tie-rod and creeper. But the truck, being rather high from the ground, cleared him when it settled on its wheels. The fact the truck was high enough not to pin him made it possible for Green to roll out from under the vehicle.

NEW PARSONAGE — The First Baptist Church has purchased a new parsonage at 1504 West Fifth for the pastor, the Rev. J. R. Wallace, and his family. Located on a corner lot at Fifth and Barrett, the house is constructed of buff brick. One interesting feature of the house is the large living kitchen. The living area of this room has walls of natural paneling, while the kitchen end has green walls with cabinets of natural finish. Also there are a three bedroom wing on the east side and half-bath, a planter divider inside the front door making entrance hall to the front living room, a utility room, and a double garage which may also be used as a playroom.

Beloit Backed For Rejoining Conference

NORTHFIELD, Minn. (AP)—Presidents of colleges which are members of the Midwest Athletic Conference have recommended that Beloit (Wis.) College be invited to rejoin the conference.

The office of Dr. Clemens Granskou, president of St. Olaf College here, said the action was taken by the presidents at a meeting in Chicago Wednesday. Dr. Granskou is acting chairman of the Midwest Conference presidents group.

Dr. Granskou had not returned from Chicago and there was no elaboration of a brief statement, released by his office.

"In light of assurance given by Beloit College that she believes in and wants to comply with the spirit and philosophy of the Midwest Collegiate Athletic Conference and with full conviction that the staff, faculty and trustees of the college will implement these assurances, we recommend with enthusiasm that the conference invite an application for admission from Beloit College."

President Miller Upton of the Beloit School said Wednesday night, "Beloit has made no overtures, nor has it received an invitation to rejoin the Midwest Conference."

Beloit, one of the founders of the conference, was ousted in May 1951. Ralph Henry of Carleton College, then commissioner of the conference, said at the time, "Since the athletic policies being followed by Beloit College seem, after careful consideration, to be contrary to the best interests of the conference, action has been taken dropping Beloit from the Midwest Conference at the end of the current academic year."

Henry, who resigned the commissionership last June, said here today he would add nothing to his original statement in 1951. He said there were "no specific reasons" given in dropping Beloit.

Thinks 'Star Of Hope' Plan Good Proposal

NEW YORK (AP)—A North Carolina newspaper editor said today his plan for launching a "star of hope" satellite would provide all peoples of the world with a visual symbol of hope and peace.

John McConnell, editor of the weekly Toe Valley View, said the satellite, "sheathed in a highly reflective material, would be a symbol that people can see and understand."

McConnell, of Bakersville, N. C., appeared on the NBC television program, "The Arlene Francis Show," to discuss his recent editorial proposing the December launching of a Christmas star satellite.

"The venture into space has been accompanied by tension," McConnell said. Such a satellite, he said, would help to ease "fear and anxiety in all parts of the world."

McConnell's idea has received support from at least one satellite scientist—S. Fred Singer, University of Maryland astrophysicist. Singer said earlier this month the sending of a harmless, uninstrumented sphere into a globe-circling orbit would help offset the propaganda advantage Russia has gained with its two Sputniks.

only about 10 minutes of a normal weekly council meeting which included several hours' discussion of routine administrative matters.

The delegates expressed hope hope for the speedy recovery of the President.

The December meeting is normally attended by foreign and finance ministers. Some diplomats had suggested that the coming meeting should be at this level with a summit conference postponed until spring, when Eisenhower might be able to attend.

Basically, there appeared to be a strong feeling in NATO countries that the top-level meeting — even without Eisenhower — was essential at a time of mounting, worldwide Communist pressures. But there was frank disappointment in many NATO capitals that the one-time Supreme Allied Commander in Europe might be absent.

Parents were contacted and told to have the boys contact Cecil Glenn, juvenile officer.

Four mail sacks dispatched to Windsor, Warsaw, Lincoln and Cole Camp were reported by C. A. Smith, baggage man, as having been stolen from the Missouri Pacific sometime between 5:45 and 7:45 a.m. Thursday.

The sacks had arrived on Missouri Pacific Passenger Train No. 9 and unloaded on a platform truck and left on the platform until the mail truck arrived.

Ralph Brewer, ticket agent reported an investigation revealed that two Negroes were seen around the platform between 5:45 and 6:45 and later, after they had gone, the sacks were found to be missing when the truck arrived to take them to their destination.

A report has also been given the postal authorities.

Floyd White, 27, 319 East Pettis, received severe cuts about 8:50 a.m. Thursday as a result of an argument in front of Ted's Cafe, 117 East Main.

Ernest Holford, 40, of 115 East Pacific, was picked up later by the police in connection with the fracas. Police reported Holford admitted the assault.

According to the police report Holford told them that he and White had an argument which started at White's mother's home on East Pettis. He left the White home and went up to Ted's Cafe and was followed there by White.

While on the sidewalk in front of the place, the argument began again and White ended up with a 10-inch slash which started at the right shoulder down the chest and across the chest. It took 71 stitches to close the deep slashed wound.

Another slash wound about six inches long was behind his left ear, which took several stitches, and there was a cu on his left wrist.

He was taken to the hospital in the Gillespie ambulance, where Dr. A. R. Maddox rendered medical treatment.

Vertical Flight Plane Crashes, Kills Pilot

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP) — The Rolls Royce "flying bedstead," first British jet plane to achieve a vertical takeoff, crashed during trials today, killing the pilot.

The machine overturned while flying tethered to a crane at nearby Hucknall. The pilot, New York-born Wing Commander Henry Larsen, was pinned underneath and crushed.

The aircraft was first flown in 1953.

Wall Streeters Find Market Has Bounce

NEW YORK (AP)—The habitues of Wall Street's financial canyons could sit down to their turkey today thankful that the stock market has a lot of bounce in it.

Most experts, perhaps a little rattled by the bad price break in the last 20 minutes Tuesday on news of President Eisenhower's illness, had predicted a further decline yesteday, at least at the start.

That didn't happen. There wasn't any decline at the start and by the time the day ended all of Tuesday's decline had been recouped, with a fraction or two to spare.

Of course, all stocks didn't make up their Tuesday's losses. But, as measured by the standard market averages, most of them did.

The significant fact, as noted by an executive of Wellnigton Fund, one of the largest mutual funds, was that "the rally in stocks Wednesday confirms the underlying strength in the market."

This is what happened:

On Tuesday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped $3.60, equivalent to a cut of 4½ billion dollars in the quoted value of all stocks on the New York Stock Exchange. There were 171 gainers and 862 losers.

Sedalia area since 12:24 a.m. Nov. 1.

The four previous holdups were executed by a lone Negro bandit. He first held up the Missouri Pacific passenger depot the morning of Nov. 1, and obtained $34. Next he took the Brown station on North Missouri at 1:05 a.m. Nov. 3 and obtained $57. He went back to the same Brown station at 7:24 p.m. Nov. 9, at which time he obtained $36.40, and on Sunday, Nov. 10, at 8:35 p.m. he held up the Kay's Cafe on North Highway 65, where he got his biggest haul, $91.

Sgt. E. W. Van Winkle and Trooper Robert Stockdell of the State Highway Patrol, Deputy Sheriffs Ed George and George Brown, and Night Chief Ted Gardner of the police department, investigated the holdup Wednesday night.

between the French and the Algerian rebels.

The statement also said:

1. The two governments will pursue negotiations now in progress for renewing leases on five American military bases in Morocco.

2. The United States "will continue to undertake" economic and technical aid programs in Morocco. U. S. aid now amounts to about 20 million dollars annually,
